NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!

W. E. COOPER

HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent, and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive

Carriage Factory,

Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.

He respectfully refers to the following

CARD.

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H. B. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.

It fastens without bolt or screw, and is therefore, easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.

It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent, heretofore considered the best in use.

MANIFEST DESTINY IN THE WEST.

[From the Overland Monthly for August.]

(Concluded.)

In 1834 the first Methodist missionaries, under the protection of the fur traders, went overland to the Rocky Mountains. Why they did not tarry in the neighborhood of their countrymen, and among the tribe who were inquiring about the God who furnished plenty of horses, guns, and food to his worshipers, has never been made quite plain. However that may be, these two men, Lee by name, chose to pass quite by these interesting savages, and settle nearer the coast, right under the eyes and nose of the Hudson's Bay company, who had already begun to give farms to its retired servants in the Garden of the West, the Wallamet Valley.

It was the policy of the Hudson's Bay Company to treat Americans who came into their neighborhood, or demanded their hospitality, with the greatest courtesy. They only required that none of these adventurers should attempt to trade with the Indians, whom they had brought into subjection to themselves. Competition they could not have: it would ruin their business, and open the way for American settlements. But with missionaries—why, the case was different. Accustomed as the English are to revere the Church and its ministers, the officers of the Hudson's Bay Company were prepared to receive the missionaries with even more than their accustomed hospitality and courtesy. Plain men as they were, the right hand at the Governor's elegant table, and the best of lodging, with every privilege of gentlemen, were accorded to them, and the kindest offers of assistance freely made to forward the establishment of their mission.

Fatal misapprehension! In the next ten years, in spite of the restrictions with which the Company, now alarmed, surrounded the embryo settlement, it had become a colony of actual settlers, tillers of the soil, hardy American frontiersmen, who, with the mission—now a mission only in name—for a nucleus, had already arrived at the consideration of a plan for a Provisional Government. The rapid secularization of the Methodist Mission had been an event entirely unforeseen, and the British Government was once more outwitted, or, as we contend, quietly set aside by Destiny.

But the Methodist was not the only mission with which the Hudson's Bay Company had to contend. The Presbyterian Church, moved by the same tales of Indian aspirations which had inspired the Lees to undertake their conversion, had found a small company of devoted souls willing to give their lives to the service of God in the wilderness. Of this company Dr. Marcus Whitman was the leader and governing spirit. Choosing differently from the Lees, he stationed himself east of the Cascade Range, between that and the foot of the Rocky Mountains, where he built up a mission, with several collateral ones, and faithfully taught the God-seeking savages, who brutally murdered him in return, after eleven years labor.

Dr. Whitman, though a devoted Christian servant, was a no less ardent American. A favorite at Fort Vancouver, the head-quarters of the Hudson's Bay Company, he had many opportunities of acquainting himself with the feelings which animated its officers as subjects of Great Britain, and no one more heartily desired a rapid American settlement than he. Many were the efforts he put forth to induce immigration by making the proper representations to all who came in his way, and by means of correspondence with the East.

Nor was Congress idle at this time. Being pressed for a settlement of the boundary question, Mr. Webster and Lord Ashburton were holding long and secret negotiations, while certain Congressmen and Senators were continually "agitating" to prevent an ill-advised cession of territory, and to induce immigration to Oregon. Although little was known of what was transpiring officially, the secret rivalry ran high, and in 1842-3 the interest felt in the question of the Oregon boundary was intense. The following incident will best illustrate to what expedients British and American subjects were impelled by a desire to "come out ahead:"

In the autumn of 1842, Dr. Whitman happened to be dining at one of the Hudson's Bay Company's posts, only a few hours' ride from his station. At this dinner were present some of the Company's gentlemen, and several Roman Catholic priests from the "upper country"—for the Roman priesthood were encouraged to settle among the Indians wherever the Company's employes went. While the guests were still at table a messenger arrived, bringing the news of the arrival, hourly expected, of the annual overland express from Canada; and also the news that Sir George Simpson's company of Scotch Canadian immigrants, to the number of about sixty, accompanied the express, and were to settle on the north side of the Columbia, between that river and Puget Sound.

Dr. Whitman, whose ears were ever open to catch the least murmur indicating British aggression, heard in silence, until a too enthusiastic and jubilant young priest arose from table, and exclaimed: "Huzza, huzza! the country is ours. The Americans have lost it."

"Not if I live!" burst forth the irate Doctor. "I will bring you a thousand immigrants for your sixty, before a year has passed." And forthwith the doughty champion of Americanism proceeded to take leave of his entertainers, pleading important business as an excuse for unseemly haste. That same evening he drew rein at his own door, and, before dismounting, informed his wife and a brother missionary that he was going to Washington that fall. And he kept his resolution. In a few days he was off, late in the season as it was, and by keeping toward the south succeeded, not without considerable suffering, in making a winter journey across the continent. It does not appear in history how far he was able to influence Webster in his negotiations with Ashburton; but it is well remembered how bitter were his remarks on the contemplated exchange of a valuable portion of the Oregon territory, including Puget Sound, "for a cod fishery!" Codfish were plenty on the Oregon coast, and so he plainly told the Secretary.

Neither can it be definitely stated that he kept his word about bringing a thousand immigrants. He certainly had the satisfaction of accompanying that number back to Oregon, and materially assisting them on their way. But it is probable he found most of these people ready for the movement, as he could not have raised a party of such strength, and by his own personal exertions, in less than a whole summer. It was the agitation of the project of land-grants to immigrants, in Congress, which had induced these natural-born pioneers, the people of Missouri and Illinois, to undertake the great journey. Doctor Whitman found them ready, and, taking them by the hand, led them safely, through months of sun and storm, to the promised land. One year from the utterance of that boastful sentence by a young Canadian priest the Doctor had redeemed his promise, so far as outnumbering Sir George Simpson's immigrants was concerned. From that moment there could be no doubt to whom the Oregon territory belonged.

For the four years following, emigration from the Western States continued to flow into Oregon. With every year's increase, the anxiety to have the boundary question settled was intensified on the part of Great Britain. The United States only seemed apathetic. In truth, our Government could have afforded at that time to let well enough alone. It had several thousand actual settlers in the Oregon territory to support its more technical claims. The Hudson's Bay Company, though still a powerful monopoly, no longer could prevent commerce to such an extent as formerly, while they were compelled to unite with the Americans in supporting a provisional form of government, drawing its form and principles after the American model.

But while Congress was content, the Oregon colony was not. Their six or eight thousand souls were cut off from the aid and succor of the parent country by thousands of miles and months of time. They were surrounded by savages, and only too suspicious of the feelings and intentions of their British allies. Year after year they had memorialized Congress, asking the Government to take pity on them, and give the necessary notice to Great Britain that the convention of mutual occupancy was at an end. After repeated disappointments from promises long deferred in fulfilment, in 1846 the desired notice was given, and a few months after the boundary question was settled: the United States retaining the whole of the territory south of the forty-ninth parallel, and giving up their claim to the coast lying north of that and south of the fifty-fourth parallel—thus, no doubt, averting bloodshed.

England, however, never forgave the loss of the Columbia; but seeing it inevitable, bided her time to make up that loss whenever there should occur a favorable opportunity to ignore that proudest Americanism, the "Monroe Doctrine." Nor was it long before such an opportunity seemed to present itself. We were involved in a war with Mexico at the same time that Oregon was clamoring for a territorial government, and arms and soldiers to protect her from the Indians. The moment seemed propitious. An entering wedge had been prepared by an Irish subject of Great Britain, who was negotiating for immense grants of land in California, and bending the Mexican Government to his design by alarming their Catholic prejudices against Protestantism, and declaring to them that the Americans were on the point of forcing upon them the hated religion. Incited by such arguments, possibly the California Governor might have been induced to give away several of the most valuable districts under his authority, had not events hastened which put an end to the negotiation.

However it was that our Government had become informed of the intentions of its rival, it was informed, and just in time. Several authors have criticised very severely the course of the United States in relying upon California as they did. It is said that early in 1845 secret instructions were sent to the commander of our naval force in the Pacific, and that the same year Capt. Fremont was dispatched overland to California, ostensibly on a scientific expedition—really on a warlike one. It is revealed how Thomas Hart Gillespie traveled post-haste, other instructions to Fremont, who very wisely turned back from his scientific pursuits, and joined his land forces with Commodore Sloat's naval forces to subjugate California.

Does any body believe that all this secrecy and "treachery" were necessary to take possession of that country, when the Governor with his few hundred men, ran away at the first sound of war? The real explanation of the haste and the secrecy was the presence in the Pacific of a British man-of-war, the Collingwood, under the command of Sir George Seymour, with instructions, probably, to seize California the moment that war with Mexico was declared. The commander of the United States forces had exactly the same order—to wait for the proclamation of war, that there might appear to be a sufficient reason for the seizure. That he did not wait, but took possession of Monterey, just one day in advance of the arrival in Monterey Bay of the Collingwood, shows conclusively that there was a proviso contained in his secret instructions verbally delivered by Lieut. Gillespie, which meant that he was to wait for a declaration of war, unless he had reason to fear the British Admiral might forestall him. Learning himself a day too late, Admiral Seymour took on board his Irish confederate and sailed away. Thus once more Fortune favored us, if not the brave, at all events the vigilant. California, the peerless, became and remained ours.

But what to do with all this length and breadth of territory, unoccupied by any save a race of centaurs? It was true that Thomas H. Benton had said, in a speech delivered at St. Louis in 1844:

"I say the man is alive, full grown, and is listening to what I say, (without believing it, perhaps) who will yet see the Asiatic commerce traversing the North Pacific Ocean, entering the Oregon river, climbing the western slope of the Rocky Mountains, issuing from its gorges, and spreading its fertilizing streams over our wide-extended Union! The steamboat and the steamcar have not yet reached all their waters. They have not even found the simplest and most appropriate theatres—the tranquil surface of the North Pacific Ocean, and the vast inclined plane which spread east and west from the base of the Rocky Mountains. The magic boat, and the flying car, are not yet seen upon this ocean and upon this plain, but they will be seen there! and St. Louis is yet to find herself as near to Canton, as she now is to London! with a better and safer route, by land and sea, to China and Japan, than she now has to France and Great Britain."

But then nobody believed much in a Pacific railroad; and then, too, we had not conquered California, and did not know much about the Bay of San Francisco. Certainly it was a problem how to connect Oregon and California with the country east of the Mississippi, and how to people it, and what to do with such an empire of unprotected coast. Yet here is where our special Providence comes in.

Not many years before the events just mentioned, a religious fanatic, Joseph Smith by name, gained a powerful influence over a large body of people, leading them from place to place; until finally they settled in Illinois, and built up a city called Nauvoo. But the Illinoisans, being an ill-mannered, bigoted commonwealth, soon took a dislike to the believers in the book of Mormon, and finally drove them out at the point of the bayonet, to seek their fortunes at some distant corner of the world. These persecuted "saints" had reached the western border of Iowa, and were resting for a rest before continuing their exodus, when the Mexican war broke out. Colonel Kane, who was sent to raise a battalion from their ranks, (a refinement of malice in a Government which had failed to protect them) tells us many interesting facts concerning them, in a lecture which he delivered before the Historical Society of Pennsylvania. Colonel Kane succeeded in raising a battalion, which, together with the remainder of the army, was about returning home, when the discovery of gold in the newly-acquired territory of California created that fearful mental and moral epidemic called "gold fever."

Did the "saints" raise a stampede for the mines, like any and every other class of people? No. Their mission was to build up a great city, which was to contain a wonderful temple, and other peculiar institutions. Faithful to their faith, they made haste to build it, and while in the midst of the continent, when the gold-seekers fainted on their weary way across the plains, they came suddenly upon a beautiful new city, set in among emerald hills, where, when California first became ours, was only blue air and silence. Says Colonel Kane (we quote from memory): "When the travel-worn gold hunter reaches the mountain top overlooking Salt Lake City, and sees for the first time this haven of rest in the middle of his exhausting journey, he falls down upon his knees and thanks God, with tears streaming from his eyes." Here was provided rest, and cleanliness and fresh food. Who shall say that the City of the Saints was not a special Providence?

But that was not all that Mormonism did for the overland route. All of their number who were too poor, or too sick, or for any other reason could not easily remove to Salt Lake, stopped at Council Bluffs for two or three years, and drew there merchants from St. Joseph's and St. Louis, who afterward remained to meet the wants of more permanent settlers. Thus the little trading-post of Council Bluffs became a town of the first importance in Western Iowa.

Opposite Council Bluffs, and a little to the north of the present city of Omaha, is a little town called Florence, the winter quarters of the Mormon hosts, and where, as their grave yard shows, many of their number died during the first winter of their compulsory residence at that place. Here, as on the Iowa side of the river, the ground was broken and planted for two or three years, leaving it mellow and sweet for the subsequent settler. All along the highway trodden by the fleeing thousands through the Iowa territory the ground was broken at intervals, and seed dropped in. This was done by order of the Elders, as the only means for providing for the weak and sick who might falter by the way, and left behind by the stronger and more fortunate. From Nauvoo to Salt Lake City a road was beaten. Scarcely was it passed over by the last of the Mormon refugees before another innumerable caravan of California bound wayfarers stretched from one end of it to the other. When the gold fever had abated somewhat, and the only travelers seen upon the road were the annual trains of Mormon recruits, which left the vicinity of Omaha about the first of May, we went out upon it for a day's ride, and beheld it stretched like a garland of roses among the green swells of prairie, as far as the eye could reach. For the breaking of the strong sod by the heavy wheels of loaded wagons had given encouragement to wild roses and other prairie flowers, and the most luxurious growth of these marked the track of the emigrant trains, and pointed out their course—a symbol, let us hope, of that flowery chain of mutual interests and aspirations which binds to-day the Atlantic to the Pacific slope.

Upon Oregon, California and Utah there followed Nevada, Colorado, Idaho, Montana—each the result of one of those great and sudden impulses which move the "human sea;" not in that "low wash of waves," by which ordinary emigration is symbolized in one of our typical American poems, but in great tidal waves of astonishing power.

Forced to see the direction of events, the people easily accepted their manifest destiny, and in spite of internecine war, and heavy national indebtedness, the Pacific railroad became not only an acknowledged possibility, but an acknowledged necessity. But even with growing States midway of the continent, joined on the eastern side of the Rocky mountains to those already matured, by good agricultural lands, inviting the settler, there was still a problem to be solved concerning a long stretch of country west of the Rocky Mountains, adjudged to be nearly worthless. That question, of how was a railroad to be made paying which traversed hundreds of miles of uninhabitable waste, has been answered within the last few months. Those wastes are not uninhabitable on the contrary, they threaten to be overrun with people within the next six months. These fifty or one hundred thousand silver-seekers are not an agricultural people, it is true; but all the more they will need the aid of cheap transportation to supply their wants. Everything must be taken to them, even their bread. For all which they require, they make returns in gold and silver. It is now seen that the railroad has been completed just in time to provide for these people; and that it has been built in time to give employment to the railroad.

The dream of Thomas J. Hart Benton, and the late of Thomas H. Benton's heart, have been fully fulfilled, so far as the Pacific Railroad and the trade with the old world of the East is concerned. But even they did not prophesy that Chinamen should build the Pacific end of the road. It was of the Columbia River, and Puget Sound as a harbor, that the first projectors of a Pacific railroad dreamed. They knew that sailing vessels crossed the Pacific from a point on the coast about opposite the Oregon River, in order to avail themselves

Thanks to Senator Casserly.

[From the San Francisco Record.]

The whole East, the whole West, and the whole South, are agitating the question of Asiatic immigration—thanks to Senator Casserly! Memphis, St. Louis and Chicago send agents to California, with instruction to proceed to Asia to procure Chinese labor—thanks to Senator Casserly! The entire press of the Atlantic Slope and Mississippi Valley are discussing how to procure such labor—thanks to Senator Casserly! Large associations of capitalists are being formed for the purpose of inviting it among us—thanks to Senator Casserly! At once, and as if it were by magic, the whole country has been awakened to the value and importance of this labor—thanks to Senator Casserly!

He pronounced the Chinese to be "the most industrious, ingenious and frugal people on the face of the earth," and believing that he spoke the truth, their labor is being sought wherever there is work to be done. The Omaha Herald (Dem.,) referring to Casserly's remarks, calls his argument "nonsensical," and adds: "The man or party that proposes to enact prohibitory laws against Asiatic immigration—against the coming here of one of the most enlightened and industrious races of men on the round earth—had better commence making arrangements for a very early death and decent burial!"—thanks to Senator Casserly!

Brick Pomeroy, in the New York Democrat, gives them a cheering welcome; and the New York World hopes to see them come among us by hundreds of thousands—thanks to Senator Casserly! Senator Casserlyhas been the best friend the Chinese ever had! He has proclaimed their virtues as laborers and mechanics to all the world, and all the world is anxious to procure them as servants—thanks to Senator Casserly! He is a Democrat, and his statement upon this subject is not supposed to be controlled by prejudice in their favor, and is, therefore, believed by Democracy everywhere; hencoare they holding conventions to devise means to flood the country with this desirable labor—thanks to Senator Casserly! This Senator has done more in a single speech to place this labor in a favorable light before the people than all the pro-Chinese Associations of the country could do in five years. The Chinese has been lifted at a single bound from the bottom round of the labor ladder and placed upon the topmost—thanks to Senator Casserly! The press of the nation, the great public tongue, is praising them on every side—thanks to Senator Casserly. All the distinguished people that come among us from the East—the tourists from all the lands—the curious stranger and inquiring citizen—visit them in their California homes to judge for themselves of the worth of that "frugal, ingenious and industrious" race—thanks to Senator Casserly! The Chinese have found new friends in every nook and corner of the land—thanks to Senator Casserly. Their great spokesman—the Aaron of their Moses—has proclaimed their worth, and they are the lions of the hour—thanks to Senator Casserly.

This distinguished Senator, whose potent voice has done so much in a few short weeks to lift these swarthy Asians from the bottom of the ladder of labor to its top (in public estimation) is to speak in public to-morrow night at his home in the metropolis of the Pacific, and we look seaward for another pronunciamento upon this great labor question which shall surpass in electrifying power all that have gone before! In his peculiar line he has no superior; nay, never had an equal. Hurra for Senator Casserly! the best and almost the only white friend the Chinese have had—the only strong friend for his single speech has given them character and a status all over this continent.

Who is "Judge" Dent?

[From the San Francisco Alta.]

The Alta has of late given out a good deal of information by Republicans to come down from Washington and make Mississippi by accepting this nomination for Governor. Second, "Judge" Dent is faithfully to this call upon his loyalties. Third, he gradually made up his mind to go and use his powerful influence in favor of a State so much in need of Fourth, he wanted the moral aid of Boutwell and Grant's Cabinet, which, after a shaky, ready encounter with Boutwell, he didn't obtain, but did obtain a flea in his ear instead. Fifth, he turns out to be a sort of wishy-washy hybrid Republican. Sixth, he is suspected as a latent Democrat; and seventh, he is floated—so completely that the colored girl whose name had been given out as one of his implorers and admirers now utterly repudiates him, and Dent is dead as to the Governorship of Mississippi, beyond the power of all political galvanic batteries to restore him. This is the proper end of such an effort. Dent is an old Californian. He was at Stockton in and before 1861 and up to about 1863, when he quietly disappeared. We believe he was once a Justice of the Peace there, and so probably obtained his title of "Judge." He was a Democrat. He was a Southern sympathizer. He was a man of very moderate intellectual powers. Like the moon he shone wholly from borrowed lights. He was brother to a man of sense, and brother-in-law to another man who has since become the Captain of the age. No one would have thought of Dent—"Low" Dent—for any post above that of J. P. When Grant became famous he quietly departed from Stockton and was next heard of as a sort of planter in Mississippi, somewhere not far from Vicksburg. We had not heard of him since till the day when the telegraph announced that "Judge" Dent had been solicited with such earnestness to take the Governorship of that State from the Republicans. We shall not probably hear of him again till the crack of doom; and indeed he and his friends ought in all conscience to be well satisfied with the cheap notoriety he has obtained, since to have been even named for Governor is something far above what they had a right to expect from one of his intellectual calibre.

GOATS AND SHEEP.—There are 24 Angora goats of [illegible] and 1,500 of mixed blood, and 36 Cotswold sheep of pure, and 1,500 of mixed blood, on one ranch in Monterey county, Cal. Of the goats, the Monterey Democrat says:

Their fleeces, soft, glossy, with the feel of floss silk, attain a length of twelve inches, and will weigh five to eight pounds. They are employed in the costliest fabrics, and are worth now in San Francisco from $1 50 to $2 per pound. These goats are free in toto from any disposition to scab, and there is no other difficulty in rearing them save in the habit the dams have of killing their kids when first dropped, which requires the employment of extra pains at that season."

The same paper says of the pure Cotswolds: They will weigh from 250 to 400 pounds, yield fleeces of combing wool of 10 to 18 pounds, which, also, be it understood, are free from yolk or dust—in a word clean; and are worth in New York 70 to 80 cents, gold. The staple is 8 to 12 inches long, and very glossy. The only criticism to make of the sheep is simply as to their bulk; but, query, if a bullock can run at large and grow fat, why not a big sheep, on our luxuriant pastures?"

CIDER VS. LAGER.—The Massachusetts House passed the Liquor law with the cider clause. The Senate added lager. The House non-concurred. The Senate receded, the bill became law, the law was enforced for a day, and now, says the Boston Journal, "lager flows almost as free as water." It is sold "freely and without stint to whomsoever may choose to buy it, and that, too, under the eyes of the State Constables." Well may the Journal propose the conundrum, "why is this thus?" The obvious answer is that the enforcement of the law is not proceeded with in order to allay agitation, and conciliate the German vote. The Journal scouts such a feeble and mischievous policy, and says, "the law should be enforced till it is legally repealed, or at least till a general election announces the sentiment of the people upon the question. The law is not adapted to the wants of the people. Very many prohibitionists, no doubt, believe this to be so. Its operation does not check the tide of intemperance. It drives it from the public eye, to thrive and increase in secret corners."

FACTS WORTH KNOWING!

IF YOU WANT TO BUY A FARM YOU EXAMINE the soil, the lay, the locality, the title and the price. If you wat to insure your life, examine the workings of the Company before you invest.

If you examine you will

INSURE IN THE NEW ENGLAND MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY!

WHY?

BECAUSE you get your first DIVIDEND to HELP PAY YOUR SECOND PREMIUM. You do not have to wait 3 or 4 years for the distributions.

BECAUSE we have NO STOCKHOLDERS to draw from 12 to 25 per cent. on imaginary CAPITAL STOCK (personal promise to pay) amounting from $30,000 to $25,000 annually.

Because the NEW ENGLAND is a Mutual and is a Home Company in all our broad and beautiful country; an American institution—the first one formed on the PURELY MUTUAL plan on this Continent.

BESIDES its the only Company offering you the protection of the Massachusetts Law.

For example: A person aged 35, insures for $1,000, pays $26 50, as on the 1st July, 1869. Were he to die on the 4th July, 1871, 2 years and 3 days after, his policy would be paid. Thus:

Say amount policy is	$1,000 00
Deduct two annual payments he has not paid, $26 50 each, and interest	54 82
The family would receive	945 18

No Snap Judgment here. This is what we call EQUITABLE and MUTUAL.

Five annual payments keep the Policy in force 10 years and 56 days

Policies on which Note has been given for one-third of the Premiums.

Five payments will continue in force nearly five years after payments have ceased.

On ENDOWMENT POLICY the time is prolonged in proportion to the amount paid.

Take the statements of no solicitor for other Companies of our beneficent workings, but call and satisfy yourselves. We will be pleased it all time to communicate every information.

THE New England Mutual

Is the only Company on this Coast that offers the above advantages to Policy-Holders.

The above examples are facts that are incontrovertible, and will be proven to the satisfaction of all persons calling on our agents.

ABOUT THE CHINESE - On Monday evening Rev. Mr. ...bson, who has been laboring as a Missionary in China ...some ten years, lectured to a large audience at the ...ethodist Church in this city, upon the subject of the Chinese at Home." Much that was interesting was ...id by the speaker in regard to the question of the emi...ation of Chinamen to this country, and the way in ...hich Americans should look at the subject. He showed ...at the policy of the Chinese Government had always ...en, and still is, to discourage that people from leaving ...eir native land. The leading men of China said, we ...ve all the variety of climate, the different mineral and ...getable productions of the earth, the various means of ...ndering ourselves comfortable and wealthy; all the ap...liances of self-support and luxury are embraced within ...r own country, and we can better afford to be exclusive ...d self-secluded than any other nation on the face of the ...obe. Our system of government has stood the test for ...ousand years and has been found sufficient to control ...d hold together 400,000,000 of people, our civilization ...the most ancient of the earth and we cannot afford to ...tamin... our people by contact with the outside bar...rians. We will build a wall around our country and ...se our sea-ports against all foreign nations, and live ...d prosper of, and within ourselves, upon our own re...ources.

The speaker showed that although much of this reason...g on the part of the Chinese statesmen was wrong, the ...ain fact of their having within their own country all ...e elements of wealth and prosperity, was true. He ...as aware that our civilization was of a higher order ...an that of the Chi... but that the commerce and in...rchange of the usual comities of nations between their ...ple and ours was neither sought nor brought about by ... Ch... government. England and France sought ...beth down the walls of exclusiv...m which the Chi...se had built around themselves, in order to gain the ...ade which ... country, and the wrench which ...ade of that p... for other nations to effect an en...ance wide o... ...ty broad to allow the exit of ... was also ... and their influx upon other nations was the ... ... results of the agg... ...ions of other ... upon their own soil

Mr. ... although he disclaimed any personal knowl...ge of politics in this country, was sorry to hear that ... had tried to make a party question of this ...ject. He considered it one of national importance, ...e which all parties should look at, with reference ...its effect upon our own national prosperity. In the ...tory of the world we learn that those governments ...y invariably become wealthy and prosperous who ...e controlled the commerce of Asia, and the United ...tes, on account of her proximity and present relations ...th China, could reap untold benefits from the exercise of ...deral policy toward that country. The millions of ...inamen were not beggars and waifs cast out upon the ...ce of life without a home or a government. Ev... ... feels that he has both, and we could not ...ll him that they were not the best in the world ... ... very little of that policy which ignored all ...e claims of a nation containing such a vast population, ... wealth, so extensive a territory, of so ...cial importance and such an ancient and ... form of government, to respect on the ...d of a people no older or more numerous than we are, ... demand that we treat them with some ...ort of ... t, and that our policy toward them be lib...l. He ridiculed the fear of a writer who was afraid ...r county would be overrun by them in the propor...n of twenty Chinamen to one white man. Such an ...t would require a doubling of the population in ...a and then her complete depopulation, to bring it ...t.

The speaker showed, by some striking individual ex... ... that the Chinese were not essentially lacking ... resources, and that the great want of that ... was the infusion of some of the great ideas of ad... ... which characterized the Americ... people. ... their degradation mainly to their idolatry, ... that they are thrown in the way of our na... ... that we might be the means of leading them out of ...ds of error and superstition and paganism, and ... them into the ranks as one of the great family ... ... of the earth.

For those of them who choose to come to this country ... was always ...nce of room. We needed them to build ... dig canals, cultivate the soil, work in factories ... in every way to aid in the great muscular contest ... this ... of nature to develop, enrich and beautify ... which is yet as a wilderness compared with ... ... state of that country from which these ... come.

We have not space for a more extended notice of this ..., but we wish that those who are so often found ... ... to shallow essays upon the "Chinese ... had been present, and so have learned how ... they "know" ...reof they speak."

The main object of the speaker was to show ... ... of the ... towards the Chi... people, he ... ... bearing upon the questions of ... ... them, as a Government which were ... interesting to his audience.

VERDICT OF CORONER'S JURY.—The following is a copy of the verdict of the jury summoned to hold an inquest upon the body of A. D. Miller

PORTLAND, August 3d, 1869.

We the jury empannelled this day by Dr Poppleton, Coroner of Multnomah county, Oregon, to enquire into the cause of the death of Adolph Miller, on the 2d inst., do find upon the evidence of Drs Gibson Glitner, Chapman Shumaker that said Miller's death was caused by the rupture of a large aneurism of the aorta or large artery near the heart, with an extravation of blood into the cavity of the pericardium or membrance which surrounds the heart This aneurism is a diseased condition of the artery, always terminating in death sooner or later, often without external violence

On motion, it was carried that the Chairman of this meeting be authorized to appoint committees to solicit subscriptions. S. G REED, Sec'y.

STATE TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.—The exercises of the late session were interesting and instructive. The address of Judge Thornton on "Ancient Literature and Modern Science considered as means of Mental Culture" and the lecture of Dr Rounds on "Mingling Religion with Scientific Instruction," were masterly and conclusive.

The officers for the ensuing year are. Judge J. Quinn Thornton, President; T. M. Gatch, C. H. Matoon, E. P. Henderson, Vice Presidents; Clark Smith, Secretary; C. H. Mattoon, Treasurer Executive Committee O. B. Frambres, T. H. Crawford, Clark Smith.

INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS.—The following officers were installed in Crystal Lodge No. 19, I. O. G. T for the ensuing quarter: Chas. Woodward, W. C. T., Miss Emma Hayden, W. R. H. S; Miss A. Hayden, V. L. H. S.; Mrs. M. Winnie, W. V. T.; John F. Aubey, W. Sec.; Jos. S. Kidder, W. A. Sec; A. Hupperich, W. F Sec; Mrs. M. E. Kidder, W. T.; —— Franklin, V. M; Jas. Timon, W. C.; Miss E. Fries, W. I. INQUEST POSTPONED.—Dr. Poppleton, on Monday, commenced an inquest upon the body of Mrs. Moshead, who died suddenly Sunday night on Second street near Painhill. The examination not being completed on Monday, the inquest was continued till Tuesday morning, when the inquest upon the body of Mr. Miller intervening, the former was further postponed till Wednesday morning. Meanwhile the remains of the woman were buried yesterday.

TO MAKE A BALKY HORSE DRAW.—The Scientific Press says in India, where a horse can and will sit draw, instead of whipping or burning him, as is frequently done in more civilized countries, they quietly get a rope, and attaching it to one of the fore feet, one or two men take hold of it, and advancing a few paces ahead of the horse, pull their best. No matter how stubborn thanimal may be, a few doses of such treatment effects a perfect cure.

PASSENGERS FOR VICTORIA AND PUGET SOUND.—The N. P. T. Co's steamship Gussie Telfair sailed for Puget Sound and Victoria at 6 P. M. yesterday. following is her list of passengers: Mrs Mut, David Cuter, George Adair, H L Hastings, H Bird, J Cooley, J S Underhill, H Warren and wife, Miss M Warren, Miss J Schrader, Miss L Watkins, Miss C Watkins, Mrs J Watkins, Mrs R Woodard, Lew Kelly and six in steerage.

PLACED IN THE ASYLUM.—On Saturday, Sheriff Virtue of Baker county brought down and placed in the insane asylum Dr. A. C. Loring, formerly a member of the House of Representatives from Baker county. He once resided and practiced medicine at Salem, but for six or seven years has been living on Powder river. We did not learn how long he has been insane.

EXAMINATION POSTPONED.—The preliminary examination of Col. R. C. Gibson, upon the charge of causing the death of A. D. Miller, was set for 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon; but at that hour the attorney for the State asked for a postponment of the hearing till 10 o'clock this morning, for the reason that the inquest upon the body of Miller had not yet been concluded. Counsel for the defendant joined in the request.

AT FAULT.—Proper attention does not seem to be given to some of the kerosene street lamps in the back part of the city It is often the case that a damp early in the evening burns so low as to be utterly useless, while a little less frequently, perhaps, a lamp goes out entirely. This state of things probably arises from bad or careless trimming. It should be corrected.

INSTALLATION.—The following officers were installed in the I. O. E. T, August 2d, for the ensuing term: W. C. Wm. Winnie; S. W., Chas. Woodward; Secretary, Jno F. Aubery; Treasurer, Olive Clay Herald, J. Alexander; Chaplain, C. Crich; I. G., Mrs M. E. Kidder; O. G., John Garrison, P. W. C., Jos. S. Kidder.

CHINAMEN SENT TO JAIL.—Justice Bull, yesterday, sent Chinaman John and Chinaman Sum to jail each for two days, for mutual assaults.

STREET IMPROVEMENT.—Workmen began yesterday to grade Stark street beyond Second.

A DAY OR TWO since we spoke of the number of Eastern made carriages which are constantly coming to this town for our pleasure loving citizens. But having seen some of W. E. COOPER'S work we wonder that people do not patronize home manufactures. He has just turned out for Put. Smith the neatest pony carriage or English phaeton that could be made anywhere. The body is basket shape, on low wheels, and is got up in as good style and at as low a price as any of the imported carriages. In fact Cooper need not fee ashamed to say it is his work.

EVERY DAY, at No. 107 Front street, one door above McCormick's, you can see KANE'S CONDENSED SOAP wash without rubbing.

G. F. TRAIN preaches but does not always practice—for he patronized the Oregon Dispensary and used our medicines to cure his hands that caught those large Salmon. Since his lectures in Doctors and Drug Stores, we have had an unprecedented run for our numerous remedies; toilet articles, etc., etc. It has been said that Mr. Train was induced by us to deliver that lecture, but we assure our numerous patrons that we do not use such means to obtain patronage. We do the largest trade because our Druggists are the most competent and our medicines and goods are fresh, pure and cheap

WE TAKE PLEASURE IN CALLING the attention of dealers to a valuable Patented Improvement in Electro-Plating Spoons and Forks, by which those parts most exposed to wear is given

EXTRA COAT OF SILVER!

THREE TIMES THE USUAL THICKNESS, viz: on the back of the handle, bowl or the bowl and points of bowls of spoons back of the handle and points and points of tines of forks, as illustrated in cut

This new Electro Plating greatly surpasses the old way of plating The great advantage will be readily seen, as spoons and forks always wear through on these exposed points, while the plate is yet good on other parts of the article This new process will add THREE TIMES TO THE DURABILITY of goods so plated.

Knives, forks and spoons stamped "1847 ROGERS BROTHERS AI XII," are Electro Plated by the new Patented Process.

We have now been before the public since 1850, manufacturing ELECTRO-PLATED GOODS, which have stood the most severe tests of wear in hotels, steamers and private families, and have given universal satisfaction, supplying, as it does, all of the advantages of silver in durability and beauty. We wish to call particular attention to the hardness and firmness of our White Metal, which exceeds anything of the kind made in this country All goods plated on this metal bear our trade mark, and the plating is warranted THREE TIMES THE USUAL THICKNESS.

ENDORSEMENTS.

OLYMPIA, W. T., March 27, 1869.

C A. WHITE, Esq.—Dear Sir: Having examined your original map, embracing that portion of Washington Territory west of the Cascade Range, I desire to add my testimony to its value Having been engaged for a number of years in the surveys from Cape Flattery to the Head of Puget Sound, I have examined this portion of your map more critically than others, and I take pleasure in vouching for its general correctness.

This map will fill a want that has long been felt, not only among the residents of this Territory, but others, who are desirous of obtaining information of this portion of the "far West," and I trust that we shall soon see it in a form suitable for general distribution.

JAS. S. LAWSON,
Asst. U. S. C. S

We endorse the annexed opinion of Jas. S Lawson, Esq., and will add that Mr. Chas A White is a practical surveyor, and has had access to the township maps in the two Land Offices in this Territory, as also the Coast Survey charts, and we can vouch for his map of Washington Territory, west of the Cascade Range of Mountains, as being correct, and the only good map of the same territory that has been made

Sandford, Insurance Commissioner of Massachusetts, in his Report for 1868, speaking of Dividends in Life Insurance Companies, says: "The sooner such guarantees cease to be made, and such expectations created, the sooner Life Insurance will come to rest on its true motive, and men insure their lives for security, and not for dividends. The best and most popular companies will then be those that promise only equity, and render all that they promise, and furnish the best security, with the most upright and judicious management."

"By the Stock plan, the full cash effect of the Premium is immediately secured to the Insured, the Company taking ALL the risk. By the Mutual plan, the full value in Insurance of the Premium paid, is not secured to the Policy-holder, who takes a portion of the risk himself"

EDNESDAY MORNING, AUGUST 4, 1869.

ie Drain of the Precious Metals to Asia.

Dr. Lees, a man who has traveled and re-ded much in India and China, has written book on "The Drain of Silver to the East, nd the Currency of India," in which he aintains that the common opinion that those ountries are absorbing so much of the silver nd gold of the world, is greatly exaggerated. ndia and China have long been regarded as sort of bottomless abyss into which the pre-ious metals have been constantly flowing, bsorbing untold millions, yet showing no igns of plethora. But their richness in the recious metals is shown by Dr. Lees to exist much more in fancy than in reality. He says hat little silver is hoarded among the natives of India and that few ornaments of this metal re worn. Considerable gold, however, is ised in this way. The question is, what be-comes of the silver which is said to flow in uch large quantities into those countries? It is a fact that in many parts of India coin is yet hardly known. The population of Asiatic countries is so very great that it re-quires immense sums to make any show in hem. Thousands of millions might be dis-tributed among so numerous and industrious a people. It must be remembered that the common waste of the precious metals is very great. This waste, by wear, by losses and by remelting, it is estimated, has amounted dur-ing the last twenty years to nearly one thou-sand millions of dollars. Dr. Lees thinks hat the importation of the precious metals into Oriental countries for a very long period has been barely sufficient to replace the steady losses from all causes. He holds therefore, with apparent good reason, hat there is little cause to fear any great de-preciation in the value of silver and gold. On the contrary he remarks that "there may be very good grounds for alarm lest further sources should not be discovered to enable the supply to meet that demand, which, if not immediate, is inevitable." That there will be a larger demand seems certain; for many Asiatic countries which are rich in resources have little or no silver or gold, and the open-ing of extensive commercial relations with them, according to the policy which now pre-vails throughout Christendom, will be sure to create a demand for those metals which are accepted as the representatives of value throughout the world.

In General.

An opinion of Judge Deady relative to the Oregon Railroad controversy is published in the OREGONIAN to-day, and will doubtless be read with attention by many who have been watching with interest the progress of the controversy.

The New York World says the declarations of recent Democratic Conventions against the fifteenth amendment "express the wishes rather than the expectations of the Demo-cratic party." In other words, the party would like to defeat the amendment, but have no hope of doing it.

Gen. E. P. Ferry, the Surveyor General of Washington Territory, appointed to succeed Mr. Garfielde, now Delegate to Congress, was in this city a day or two since on his way to Olympia. He is a gentleman of pleasing addr ss and evident ability, has come out to this coast to stay, and we doubt not will fill his new position satisfactorily. He comes from Illinois, from which State he served with credit in the war.

It was stated a month ago that the public debt statement which would appear on the 1st August would probably show no reduction for July. But there is a reduction, nevertheless. A decrease of between seven and eight mil-lions is no trifle. The disbursements during the past month have been unusually heavy, and it is quite satisfactory to witness so con-siderable a reduction during a period when none was expected. A still better showing may be looked for next month. The old max-im should be ever to read hereafter,—Re-trenchment honesty is the best policy.

Several correspondents of the New North-West, a paper published at Deer Lodge, Mon-tana, give information regarding a new and practicable route for the Northern Pacific rail-way through that Territory and Idaho. The route lies considerably south of the one usu-ally spoken of. It proceeds up the Yellow-stone river, or as the head branches of the Missouri, follows down the Deer Lodge river for some distance, crosses over to the Bitter Root, ascends one of the western branches of that stream through an easy and natural pass, and, at a distance of less than 90 miles from Bitter Root valley strikes the Clearwater, down which the route leads to the Columbia. These correspondents assert that this route is the most practicable of any; and certainly it is shorter than the route lying so much farther to the north. If the road should come through on the route indicated it might cause the main line to follow the Columbia river through the Cascade mountains, as this would then be a direct route to Puget Sound.

The Herald attempts an argument to make good the ridiculous assertion that if we don't shut out the Chinese from this country they will soon outnumber us "as twenty to one." It says people from Europe won't come if the Chinese continue to flock in—an assertion that is somewhat weakened by the fact that more people are coming from Europe in these days of Chinese immigration than ever before. It then proceeds to argue that, immigration from Europe being stopped (!) "the whites already here would inevitably become demoralized; they would amalgamate with the most num-erous race, and their increase would not begin to keep pace with that of the Asiatics and mongrels, so that not only is our first asser-tion likely to be verified, but the white race, under the Chinese policy of the present gov-ernment, is liable to become entirely extermi-nated and lost!" Only to think that such assertions and conjectures as these are put forth in good earnest! To what a pass is this Chinaphobia bringing Democratic journalism on the Pacific slope!

AT BOISE CITY.—Senator Williams made a speech at Boise City recently of which the States-man thus speaks:

Senator Williams made a most decidedly favor-able impression upon the people of Boise City in the short though unpremeditated speech last Tues-day night. He handled the repudiationists with kid gloves and answered the bond croakers in terms most convincing. Our Democratic friends who have complained so much of Webfoot inter-ference in Idaho politics did not, we opine, derive much comfort from his allusion to that matter. They are promised a continuation of the same policy under the administration of Grant which has given them so much uneasiness in the past. His talk was exactly of the right kind, and does most heartily and faithfully represent the republicans of Idaho. It was most decidedly stiffening to timid ones, and occasioned no little squirming among repudiationists.

Robert Toombs practices law unremittingly at Washington, Ga., and entertains a poor opinion of the bond.

THE WEST.

There are three prisoners in the Washington Territory penitentiary at Steilacoom.

A new steamer called the Tacoma has been launched near Olympia, to ply on the Sound.

The Walla Walla Real Estate Gazette has ap-peared. It is a small but well filled sheet, and contains considerable interesting matter.

A man named Joseph Shaw was killed at a pile chute on South Bay, near Olym, a last week, by being caught and crushed among some timbers.

Says the Walla Walla Union: Some fifteen pack trains passed our office during the past few days, with packs amounting in the aggregate to about 600. Their cargoes were mostly comprised of flour and whisky from the flouring mills and distillery of this place.

An obscene sheet "up the Columbia" says it's "a lie" to state that Gift, the Californian who is going to China to get laborers for the South, is a Democrat. The statement we published regard-ing his politics came from the Sacramento Record, a paper that ought to know.

Says the Walla Walla Real Estate Gazette: The first fruit planted in this valley was apple seed, planted on the Alpowah, by Dr. Whitman, in 1835, and while these trees have been twice de-stroyed by the savage, they have again sprung from their roots, and are nature's monument of the noble Whitman.

The Boise Statesman of the 29th July says: Senator Williams and lady, Governor Ballard, Mrs. Crain, and several others, left yesterday afternoon for Silver City. They will devote a day or two to visiting the mines of Owyhee, and return on Saturday. The Senator expects to leave for Portland on Sunday night.

The Olympia Transcript says: From W R Gale, who has just arrived from the Cowlitz re-gion, we learn that the terrible fires which have been raging almost the entire distance from Monticello to Skookum Chuck for the past two or three weeks, have abated very materially, with a fair prospect of not being so troublesome again this season. This is good news for the traveling public.

The San Francisco Examiner says "that serious disaffection exists among the Democracy of that city is known to every member of the party, and cannot either be concealed or pooh poohed by the press. As goes the city so probably will go the State. There is great danger of losing the State if we lose this city."

The Jacksonville Sentinel says that J B. Whit-telsey, of Canyonville, has received the appoint ment of United States Assessor for Southern Ore-gon. Heretofore Jackson and Josephine counties have comprised one division, Douglas, Coos, and Curry another. These two divisions are now con-solidated, and under the supervision of one As-sistant only.

The Owyhee Tidal Wave has the following: We were shown a letter yesterday to a citizen of this place from Wall street, New York, offering to send finely executed treasury notes at the follow-ing rates: $200 in counterfeit for $15; $1,000 for $50, or $2,000 for $80, etc? The fellow has been arrested once or twice, but as he had not tried to deceive any one as to the character of the paper offered, he was released, and continues to send his offers to grant exclusive rights for counties, and even whole States, and if customers fear to trust him will send "goods" C. O. D. For boldness we have rarely seen anything in the thieving line to equal it.

OREGON.

In consequence of the scarcity of water, but little gold is now being taken out of the Myrtle Creek mines.

John Kelly has sold his farm lying about two miles south of Roseburg on the stage road, em-bracing 1,370 acres, to T. P. Sheridan, for $5,000.

The Roseburg Ensign says: W. B. Singleton of this county has a son eight years of age, who has driven a team during the late harvest to cut over one hundred acres of grain, besides such other work as the team has been required to do. This boy is only 42 inches in height and weighs 58 pounds. He handles reins like an experienced postilion, and appears to take pleasure in his em-ployment.

The Roseburg paper is informed of a remarka-ble instance of conjugal faithlessness which occur-red recently on Slate Creek, in Josephine county. A man named Stephens deserted his family, con-sisting of a wife and four children, and eloped with a Mrs. McAllister, the wife of one of his neighbors, who was herself the mother of seven children, including two grown daughters. The guilty parties have gone into California.

The Eugene Journal says: Here in Lane county, where Democracy found no public debt when they came into power, where they have made no im-provements, and have had no expensive govern-ment to keep up, they succeeded last year in get-ting the tax up to fourteen mills, or a dollar and forty cents on the $100, and, after using that all up, have run the county in debt by issuing a con-siderable amount of scrip that is selling for 85 and 90 cents on the dollar.

A Southern Oregon paper reports that B. Her-man, Deputy Collector of the Internal Revenue for this division, has just returned from a collect-ing tour in Jackson and Josephine counties. He reports business dead among mining communities everywhere that he has traveled. Water for min-ing purposes has failed much earlier than usual this season, and hard times is the result. He, however, speaks very encouragingly of the finan-cial and political aspect in Josephine county. The changes in population, by immigration and other wise, is very favorable to the Republicans.

A correspondent writes from Fort Klamath to the Sentinel as follows. "W. H. Odell, with a party of thirty men engaged in constructing the Oregon Central Military Road, reached Klamath Marsh, thirty miles above here, a few days ago. This road is now completed from Eugene City to where it crosses Klamath Marsh, and is said to be a good road. In order to cross the marsh a bridge must be built three quarters of a mile in length. In order to save labor in bridging, Mr. Odell has put fifteen of his men to work lowering the outlet of the marsh, which he hopes to lower two feet in a month. A great many stock have passed over this road this spring and summer—as near as I am able to estimate, 35,000 sheep, 15,000 cattle and nearly one hundred "web-foot" families."

Internal revenue stamps hereafter to be for warded from the printing offices in New York and Philadelphia to the bureau at Washington, where the seal of the department will be stamped upon them before they are issued for use.

At the Iowa Democratic State Convention, the Democrats appear to have given up the battle on "the almighty nigger," for a resolution offered in the convention on the bitter fifteenth amendment was laid on the table. In no two States so far do the Democrats agree upon the position for the future.

In one of his electric speeches, Senator Sprague said that nothing in the world was more mean and cowardly than a million of dollars,—except two millions. If that be so, says the New York Times, what must we think of the gener-osity and pluck of Asa Packer, the Democratic nominee for Governor of Pennsylvania, who is worth twenty millions?

The N Y Times says Philadelphia is to have a bigger musical jubilee than Boston has had. It is proposed to celebrate the centennial anniver-sary of the signing of the Declaration of Inde-pendence, on the Fourth of July, 1876 by a gi gantic musical festival, in a building especially erected in Fairmount Park, capable of accommo-dating 100,000 spectators and 12,000 performers.

The regular China mail, despatched monthly from San Francisco, averages 3,000 letters, ex-clusive of the through mail from the Eastern States. China has no postal system of her own, and most of the postoffices there are in charge of the English. The Americans have post offices at Shanghai, and several small places. Most of the cities have dependencies—that is towns which rely upon them for letters, which are transported to and from the city offices free of charge. By this route correspondence is forwarded for the East Indies and the Strait settlements as far west as Aiden.

DATES TO AUGUST 3.

Washington News.

CHICAGO, August 2.—A Republican Washing-ton special says bad ten-dollar greenbacks are arriving at the Treasury Department in consider-able numbers. They are so perfect as to induce the belief that the genuine plates have been stolen or a lead impression been furnished by the employees of the American Bank Note Company.

A special to the Times says a Cabinet meeting of Friday determined to remove all the Federal office-holders in Tennessee who do not make ac-tive exertions to secure the election of Stokes.

A legislative committee from Texas is in Wash-inton endeavoring to obtain the influence of the administration in favor of Davis.

A Tribune Washington special says the Central Pacific Railroad has deposited four millions of first mortgage bonds in the Treasury, under the act of last April to secure a first class road. The Union Pacific deposited sixteen hundred thousand in bonds for the same purpose. The same act pro-vides for a commission of five commissioners to examine both roads and report their condition, and what seems necessary to make each a first class road. The bonds deposited in the Treas-ury will be given up when the Commissioners report the lines completed in a first class man-ner. The examination will probably be made this fall.

It appears from the reports of Collectors of In-ternal Revenue that considerable whisky will be come the property of the Government, having not been withdrawn from the bonded warehouses by July 1st as was required by law. The precise amount is not yet known.

NEW YORK, August 2.—The Herald says it has been rumored at Washington that belligerent rights will be accorded to Cuba by our Govern-ment within ten days. Bets to that effect are of-fered. The rumor, however, has no foundation. The Cuban question has been before the Cabinet at least three weeks.

New York News.

NEW YORK, Aug 2.—A great excitement was created yesterday, near the Dunn Street Methodist Church, by an attempt to abduct a little girl named Mary Clark, by her mother. The child had been given to the charge of its father, by the Court, pending a divorce suit. The grand parents were shockingly beaten by half a dozen persons who seized the child while in church. Mrs. Clark was arrested.

It is reported that the yacht Henrietta was seized at New London, on suspicion of being con-nected with the Cuban filibusters.

It is stated that Henry Keep left to his wife and daughter $2,000,000 worth of stocks in the North-western road, with instructions not to sell, that it would pay better than any investment that could be made.

The tailors' strike continues. Manufacturing tailors have expressed a determination of siding with the shop hands. Two or three firms are ex-pected to yield, to-day, the advance asked in the wages.

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—A New York special to the Tribune says the report of marine disasters in July shows a loss of ten steamships, one ship, five barks, two brigs and nine schooners, of the aggregate value of $854,000.

A new plan for using electric lights on the Erie Railroad will soon be introduced. It will be carried on locomotives and used as fixed lights in tunnels and important bridge curves.

The coal dealers report all the strikes in the mines ended. A general decline of prices is ex-pected.

A letter from Nassau says a large number of Cubans had arrived there and blockade running was quite active.

Two convicts in the Auburn prison fought a duel according to the regular code, on Friday morning. The weapons were knives. The scene was conducted in the ice house. Both men were wounded but not dangerously.

At 7:40 o'clock last night, a meteor of unusual brilliancy shot from the northeast to the south-west, emitting sparks of fire.

Crimes and Casualities.

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—Jacob Rehm, Sr., father of the well known politician of that name, the re-cent Superintendent of Police in this city, killed a man named Michael Hargelock, in a bar room fight, on Saturday evening. The police used every effort to hush the matter up and prevent the reporters from obtaining information. Their statement about the matter is favorable to Rehm, but other accounts make it a case of deliberate murder.

George Dennington, a hotel keeper at South Bend, Ind., came to Chicago to witness a base ball match, on Saturday. Being taken unwell a druggist gave him aconite instead of chloroform, from which he died the same evening.

A man was drowned at the artesian well, yes-terday.

An old man was found dead in the street.

The body of a dead boy floated ashore yester day afternoon. Neither of the two last have been identified.

Virginia Affairs.

RICHMOND, Aug. 3.—The Dispatch says Gover-nor Wells has returned after a tour through the Northern States. He tells his friends that the general Republican sentiment North is adverse to Walker's party, and hopes Gen. Canby will not issue a proclamation announcing the result of the election till Congress is in session, when the mat-ter can be delayed and passed over and his friends will be retained in office.

Cuban Affairs.

HAVANA, Aug. 2.—It is reported that two slavers landed their cargoes on Wednesday last. Five thousand negro insurgents attacked Puerto Principe, making a general raid through the city. The Spanish to the number of four thousand at-tacked them. A severe struggle ensued, in which the ground was contested inch by inch. The in-surgents retreated in perfect order, having achieved the object for which they made the raid. They captured and destroyed provisions valued at fifty thousand dollars, and made good their escape. The Spaniards do not give any estimate of the patriot loss. Their own was four wounded. They were taken to the barracks. Their is great dearth of provisions, and consequently great misery, in Santiago. A patriot band which had been attack-ing plantations for some time past, defeated Span-ish reinforcements that were sent to meet them. Col. Commos, commanding the Spanish forces was wounded. It is stated that as soon as prep-arations are completed the patriots will positively attack Santiago.

The negro militia that made the raid upon Puerto Principe, enabled a number of families to escape from the Spanish. The investment of Puerto Principe is now expected. Sales of confis-cated property take place at auction. It is sug-gested that the police make a requisition of the slaves owned by disloyal masters. More troops are demanded from the interior. The insurgents are increasing in numbers and activity.

Further Reduction of the Debt.

WASHINGTON, August 2.—The public debt statement shows a reduction of indebtedness for the month of July of $7,435,744, coin in Treas-ury, $66,610,770, coin certificates, $3,672,881; currency in the Treasury, $23,391,654, sinking fund, $11,932,147. The reduction is less than was indicated some days ago, for the reason that there had been advanced to the Pacific Railroad Company the interest on bonds, amounting to $636,861, making the total reduction over nine millions. In addition to this, there was an ex-cessive amount of warrants paid on Saturday, amounting to upwards of two and a half millions. The statement of the public debt shows the total debt less cash and sinking fund in the Treasury and purchased bonds, to be $2,471,566,738 29.

Lynch Law in Illinois.

ST. LOUIS, August 2.—The excitement at Pekin, Ill., in regard to the killing of a Deputy Sheriff of that county last fall while he was attempting to arrest two horse thieves, culminated yester-day, when a crowd from the country burst into the jail and took the leader, Gammon, and hung him to a tree. He some way gained possession of a clasp knife and cut several of the lynching par-ty, one so badly he will not recover. It was thought some more of the gang would be hung.

Albany Dispatch.

ALBANY, August 2.—Deputy Sheriff Briggs who was wounded in the late apprehension trouble at East Greenburg, died this morning.

Buffalo Dispatch.

BUFFALO, August 2.—There was great indigna-tion to day among forwarders at the high rates on the canal boats, and railways carrying grain so much below what the tolls will permit the boats to carry. The latter are compelled to abandon competition. A majority of the boats are tied up.

A great chancery case is now pending in the circuit court at Decatur, Illinois, which involves one of the largest estates in the State, and em-ploys some of the most distinguished lawyers of the West. The bill is filed by James Funk, who asks a division between himself and his eight brothers and one sister, of his father's property, 38,000 acres of improved land near Bloomington, embracing the famous Funk grove, 5,000 acres of the finest forest in the State. The point at issue is the legitimacy of the petitioner, all else being yielded by his opposing relations.

Carl Schurz has tendered his services for a por-tion of his time to the Republican State Execu tive Committee for the campaign in Ohio.

The Late Storm at Jacksonville.

[From the Sentinel of July 31.]

We have to chronicle the most singular and de-structive storm that ever passed over this portion of Oregon, which occurred on Tuesday last. The day had been exceedingly warm, and at 3 P. M. a few slight thunder clouds were in sight, but the barometer indicated no sudden change in the weather. About half past three a heavy black cloud had gathered directly over head and some thunder was heard to the westward. In a short time a heavy wind was blowing from the eastward accompanied with quite a heavy rain and consid-erable thunder and lightning. This storm con-tinued about 20 minutes, the wind increasing in violence and doing considerable damage to fence, and fruit trees. At about 4 o'clock the wind died away and then chopped round to the westward blowing from that quarter about twenty five min-utes and continuing to increase in strength till it was a perfect tornado. The second storm brought rain in blinding torrents and drove hail with such violence that no person could stand for a moment out side of a building. For a short time the scene was frightful. Roofs of stacks limbs of trees and shingles were flying like chaff through the air. A volume of water at least two feet deep was rushing through the principal streets, buildings were shaking, women and children screaming and cattle and horses were flying terror stricken in every direction. As it before the rain ceased, a trembling of the earth was felt and an immense body of water came pouring down Jackson creek in a breast probably ten or twelve feet in hight. The breakwater, constructed at an expense of over one thousand dollars was instantly swept away. Boulders, logs, stumps, tailings, sluices, and several head of cattle were carried along with the flood. The bridge across the creek lasted but a moment, and in less time than it takes to write it, the water had surrounded four dwelling houses in that part of the town, placing their inmates in a very dangerous situation. Fortunately the stream had a chance to spread at this point, or some lives would have been lost. Breaking through the fine orchard and garden of Mr. Hull, and leaving it a complete wreck, it swept down through the valley, but did little damage beyond the town limits. Meanwhile, at the other end of the town, the water was pouring down Rich Gulch in a fearful torrent. It swept away a large amount of cord wood and lumber for Howard & Smith, raised the bridge on California street from its abutments, and made a clean sweep through Beckman's lot, and on through the farm of Mr. Cardwell, which is damaged, probably, $1,000.

It is difficult to estimate the damage by this terrible storm. Many estimate it at over $10,000, and it is safe to place it at that amount. The orchards and vineyards of Messrs. Britt, Neuber and Dr. Davis are seriously injured. The grape crop is completely destroyed by the hail, the leaves and fruit being riddled as completely as if they had been struck with buckshot. Plymale & Manning are heavy losers. Judge Wade suffered to the extent of some hundreds of dollars. Mr. Hull's place, that cost years of patience and labor, is nearly valueless. Dunlap's orchard is much injured. J. N. T. Miller has lost nearly all his fruit crop. Wetterier is a heavy loser. Card-well's loss is also heavy. Bilger's new windmill was torn to pieces. The breakwater has melted away, and many mining claims on the creek and on Rich Gulch are completely stripped. Many ditches and flumes are totally destroyed. A large field of corn belonging to Mr. Berry is entirely ruined, and, indeed, we know of few persons within range of the storm, who are not losers. The whole force of the storm appears to have been confined within a radius of less than two miles. At Bybee's on the north, and Orth's farm on the south, there is no indication of heavy wind, and there was not enough rain to lay the dust. The course of the first storm was from south-west to north-east, and it is thought that the sudden change of wind must have blown two heavy rain clouds together directly over us, precipitating their water nearly all at once. At the quartz mill, on the right hand fork of the creek, only a slight shower fell, and at Herling's, two miles south, there was no rain of any consequence. The heaviest wind seems to have been a few hun-dred yards south of the town, in a streak not more than two hundred yards wide. On that line the immense pines were uprooted or broken like reeds by the score, and if the wind had been as heavy in town we would undoubtedly have had a sorry time to tell. One of the old landmarks, the mag-nificent pine that has stood on the School House Knoll for hundreds of years, was uprooted, and it is a matter of universal regret. It is to be hoped that we will have no more such visitations, and every one feels thankful that it was not much worse than it was.

At one time there was twice the amount of water in the creek that there was during the great freshet of 1862, and although there was some very narrow escapes from mining claims, we are glad to say that no person sustained any serious injury.

The business and commercial reports from the South, says the New York Times, are of the most encouraging character. A gentleman who has traveled over nearly all the Southern States says that the people generally have not only recovered from the effects of the war and the general de-pression of a year ago, caused by political com-plications, but that they are now on a fair road to riches, and that that entire section of country will shortly be as flourishing as it was before the war.

NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER

HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent, and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive

Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.

We respectfully refers to the following
CARD.

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H. R. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.

It fastens without bolt or screw, and is therefore, easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.

It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent, heretofore considered the best in use.

THE OREGON RAILROAD CONTROVERSY.

U. S. Circuit Court—District of Oregon—Thursday, August 3, 1869.

James B. Newby vs. The Oregon Central Railway Co: George L. Woods, E. N. Cooke, J. H. Douthitt, I. R. Moores, T. M. F. Patton, J. H. Moores, Jacob Conser, A. L. Lovejoy, F. A. Chenoweth, S Ellsworth, S F. Chadwick, John E. Ross, J. H. D. Henderson, John F. Miller, A F Hedges, S. B. Parrish, and Green B. Smith.—In Equity, suit for injunction.

This suit is brought to enjoin the defendants from using the name—"The Oregon Central Railway Co.," and from issuing bonds bearing said name. It was commenced by filing the complaint, on February 9, 1869. The defendants on April 5, filed ten exceptions to the complaint for impertinence, which exceptions, after argument by counsel, were disallowed on April 12, thereafter.

On May 3d, 1869, the defendant corporation demurred to the complaint, as did the other defendants by a separate and similar demurrer.

On May 15 and 22 the demurrer was argued by counsel and the cause submitted to the court for determination.

Substantially, the allegations of the complaint are as follows:

I. That the complainant is a citizen of California and the defendants are all citizens of Oregon.

II. That the corporation defendant was organized about April 22, 1867, under the laws of the State of Oregon, with its place of business at Salem, for the purpose, as expressed in its articles, of constructing and operating a railway for the transportation of passengers and freight from Portland in a southerly direction about 300 miles to the northern line of the State of California.

III. That long prior to the incorporation of such defendant corporation, another corporation was duly incorporated under the laws of Oregon, under the name of "the Oregon Central Railway Co.," for the purpose as expressed in its articles of constructing and operating a railway from Portland, in a southerly direction, about 300 miles, to the northern line of the State of California, under the laws of Oregon and the act of Congress, approved July 25, 1866, entitled "An act granting lands to aid in the construction of a railway and telegraph line from the Central Pacific Railway to Portland, Oregon;" and the amendments thereto; and that about October 1, 1866, the articles of this corporation were published in full in sundry newspapers then published in Portland, Salem, Eugene and elsewhere in Oregon, and that about October 11, 1866, the Legislative Assembly of Oregon, after hearing the articles of this corporation read before it, and upon the application of said corporation, did, by the passage of a joint resolution, namely, House Joint Resolution No. 13, designate and appoint this corporation to receive and manage so much of the lands and franchises proposed to be granted by said act of Congress, as should lie within the State of Oregon, which designation and appointment was in all respects regular and in accordance with said act of Congress.

IV. That thereafter, and within the time prescribed by said act of Congress, said last named corporation duly gave its assent to the terms proposed by said act, which assent was duly filed with the Secretary of the Interior of the United States; and such corporation is now proceeding to construct said Railway as by said act required in order to receive the benefits arising therefrom; and that said act of Congress, among other things provided, that the company complying with the conditions thereof and being designated therefor by the Assembly aforesaid, should receive twenty sections of the public land within the State of Oregon for each mile of such railway, to said in the construction thereof, together with the right of way, and other valuable privileges, in the public lands along the line of said railway.

V. That by reason of the matters aforesaid, the last named corporation became possessed of valuable franchises and rights, in consideration of which its credit was established in the principal money markets of the world, so that its bonds and obligations became valuable and marketable commercial paper, by means whereof it was enabled to meet its obligations incurred in the construction of said railway, and that on June 25, 1868, said act of Congress was amended so as to extend the time for the completion of the first and and subsequent sections of said railway; and that said corporation will be able to comply with said act of Congress and be entitled to receive the land and other franchises proposed to be granted thereby.

VI. That said last named corporation for the purpose of raising money to construct said railway, issued bonds of the denomination of $1,000 each, payable in gold coin, to bearer, on January 1, 1869, with 41 interest coupons attached to each of said bonds, which coupons were payable to bearer, and for the sum of $35 each, that being the amount of the semi-annual interest on each of said bonds at the rate of seven per centum per annum; and that such bonds were put in market and sold as other such securities are sold, and that this complainant then and there became the purchaser and is now the holder and owner of two of said bonds; and that said bonds are secured by a first mortgage upon all the real and personal property of said corporation—excepting the subscriptions to the stock thereof—and upon all its rights under said act of Congress and per 50 centum of the proceeds of any land sold by said corporation before said bonds fall due, and that by reason there of the complainant's bonds are the most valuable of said corporation's obligations and would be of great market value but for the wrongful acts of the defendants as hereinafter stated.

VII. That on about April 22, 1867, certain of the corporators of the last named corporation seceded therefrom and confederated and conspired with other persons for the purpose of defrauding and injuring said corporation, and in pursuance thereof said corporators and other persons executed the articles of incorporation of the defendant corporation herein and incorporated and proceeded to organize the same, by the corporate name of "The Oregon Central Railway Co."—that being the name of the corporation designated by said resolution No. 13, as aforesaid; and that the incorporators of said defendant corporation then and there well knew and were duly notified of the prior incorporation of the corporation designated by said resolution No 13, under the name aforsaid and of its rights and franchises aforesaid and that the incorporation of another corporation under the same name would greatly injure the credit of said prior incorporation and depreciate its bonds in the money markets, by causing confusion and misunderstanding as to which corporation was entitled to the rights and benefits guaranteed to "The Oregon Central Railway Co." under said act of Congress and resolution No. 13.

VIII. That said defendant corporation has fraudulently issued a large number of bonds similar in appearance and purporting to be the bonds of "The Oregon Central Railway Co.," and to be secured by a first mortgage upon all the property of said company—except subscriptions to its capital stock—and upon its rights and franchises, and put the same upon the market as the bonds of said O. C. R. Co.; and that said last mentioned bonds were wrongfully issued for the purpose of depreciating and preventing the sale of the bonds of the corporation designated by said Resolution No. 13, and destroying their character as marketable securities; and that by reason of the wrongful and fraudulent acts aforesaid, the market value of the complainant's bonds has been greatly reduced, and the same rendered unmarketable, and that said acts have caused the public, particularly bankers and the like, to believe and suspect that the defendant corporation is the one designated by said Resolution No. 13, and that said wrongfully issued bonds and not the complainants are secured by the mortgage by which the complainant's bonds are in fact secured; and that the putting of said wrongfully issued bonds upon the market as aforesaid, as the bonds of the O. C. R. Co., will cause further depreciation of your complainant's bonds and cast confusion and suspicion upon and about the bonds of the corporation designated by said Resolution No. 13.

IV. That said defendant corporation by its officers is threatening to issue, and unless restrained by the Court, will issue a large amount more of its bonds, purporting to be the bonds of the O. C. R. Co., and to be secured as aforesaid, by which complainant's bonds will be further depreciated and their market value destroyed to his damage not less than $1,000.

X. That the personal defendants above mentioned are all directors of the defendant corporation

XI. That after the articles of incorporation of the defendant corporation were executed and filed, six of the corporators thereof subscribed $100, or one share each of the capital stock, and then passed a resolution that the President subscribe all the rest of the stock in the name of and for the corporation, there being then in fact no President, and thereupon after George L. Woods as President had pretended to subscribe said stock as directed, said corporators proceeded to organize said corporation by the election of directors, and the pretended directors, so elected, then elected said Woods President, but that no other subscription to said capital stock has ever been made, and that said defendant corporation has no other property than the six shares of capital stock, subscribed as aforesaid and is therefore wholly unable to respond to complainant in damages.

With prayer for special relief as follows:

That the defendants be perpetually enjoined from the further use of the name, "The Oregon Central Railway Co.," and from issuing any more of such bonds, and such other and further relief, etc.

The causes of demurrer assigned in the demurrers of record substantially are:

1. That the bill is defective because it does not contain a prayer for process:

2. That the complainant has a plain and adequate remedy and law:

3. That it does not appear that the legal right of the last named corporation to the name—"The Oregon Central Railway Co." has been established at law.

4. That complainant has not sufficient interest in the subject matter to maintain this suit or to the relief prayed for.

5 That the Bill does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of suit.

6. That the complainant by his Bill has not shown a case for relief in equity against the defendants.

On the argument the following additional causes of demurrer were assigned ore tenus.

7. That it does not oppear from the Bill, that said last named corporation had refused to institute this suit, and therefore it should have been brought in the name of said corporation.

8. That this Court has no jurisdiction of this suit because the subject matter in dispute does not exceed the value of $500.

By the law of Oregon any three or more persons may incorporate themselves for the purpose of engaging in any lawful enterprise or occupation. The primary step in the formation of this legal entity is the execution and filing of articles of incorporation, which articles, among other things, must specify—"The name assumed by the corporation and by which it shall be known"—(Or. Code p. 859-9).

By the execution and filing of these articles the corporate name assumed thereby and specified therein becomes exclusively appropriated. If afterwards any persons attempt to incorporate for any purpose by the same name, this would be an encroachment upon the rights of the first corporation, and therefore illegal. To prevent the continuance of such a wrong upon the rights of another Equity will interfere at the suit of the injured party, by injunction. The case is analogous to if not stronger than, that of a piracy upon an established trade mark.—(8 Paige 74, 11 Paige 292, 2 Barb. Ch., 102, Wil. Eq. 402-3) The corporate name of a corporation is a trade mark from the necessity of the thing, and upon every consideration of private justice and public policy deserves the same consideration and protection from a Court of Equity.

Under the law, the corporate name is a necessary element of the corporation's existence. Without it, a corporation cannot exist. Any act which produces confusion or uncertainty concerning this name is well calculated to injuriously affect the identity and business of a corporation. And as a matter of fact, in some degree at least, the natural and necessary consequence of the wrongful appropriation of a corporate name, is to injure the business and rights of the corporation by destroying or confusing its identity. The motives of the persons attempting the wrongful appropriation are not material. They neither aggravate or extenuate the injury caused by such appropriation. The act is an illegal one and must, if necessary, be presumed to have been done with an intent to cause the results which naturally flow from it. Nor will a Court of Equity refuse to enjoin the wrongful appropriation of a corporate name until the right of the first corporation to the name has been established by the verdict of a jury in an action at law. Such right does not rest in parol but is shown by the record, if at all, and is determined by the court as a question of law in any form of proceeding. Neither in such case, has the party injured an adequate and complete remedy at law. As in the case of patents for inventions and copy rights, the remedy at law can only give redress for the past injury, and that often inadequately. But to protect the injured corporation from the mischief arising from continued violation of its rights and perpetual litigation concerning them, resort must be had to the equitable remedy by injunction.—(Story's Eq. S. 930).

Nor do I deem it material in this case to the jurisdiction in Equity, that the defendant should be insolvent—unable to respond to the complainant in damages. The jurisdiction in this class of of cases—trade marks, patents and copyrights—depends upon the fact that the matter is intrinsically of equitable cognizance—that the legal rights of the party can only be protested in Equity, and not upon the uncertain and irrelevant test of the insolvency of the defendant.

For this reason as well as the conclusion I have reached upon the rights of this complainant to maintain this suit, without the O. C. R. Co. being made a party thereto, it is not necessary to consider the question made in the in the complaint as to the insolvency of the defendant corporation upon the grounds of the alleged illegality of the subscription to its capital stock and the irregularity of its organization. It will not be out of place however, to remark in passing, particularly after the argument of counsel for defendant upon that points that if any such question were to become material in this suit, for the purposes of this suit, it could be investigated and determined here as well as in any other proceeding. There is no divinity that doth hedge about a corporation so as to preclude a judicial investigation of the facts concerning them, whenever and wherever such knowledge becomes material to the determination of the rights of third persons. For instance, if it were necessary for the maintainance of this suit for the complainant to show that this defendant or any other corporation was insolvent, he would be allowed to do so, even if it were necessary in so doing to show that its capital stock was illegally subscribed or that its organization was invalid. The age or solvency of A. B. may become material questions in a suit to which he is not a party and in which he has no interest, but that does not preclude the parties interested and litigant from investigating the matter for the purposes of their controversy.

And this brings me to the consideration of the questions—has the complainant such an interest in the subject of this controversy as entitles him to maintain this suit, and if this quest on is answered in the affirmative, can he maintain the suit without making the O. C. R. Co. a party plaintiff or defendant.

It being admitted by the demurrer that the complainant is a bondholder and creditor of the O. C. R. Co., and that the corporation defendant has wrongfully appropriated the corporate name of said corporation, and is issuing bonds in said name and is seeking by the wrongful use of such name, to obtain the land granted to the O. C. R. Co., if it appeared unqualifiedly that the bonds of the complainant were secured by a mortgage upon land granted by act of Congress to the corporation designated by the Resolution No. 13, I think he would have such a special interest in that properly as would entitle him to maintain a suit to prevent another corporation from obtaining the same land by the wrongful use of the name of the corporation whose bonds he holds (2 Blatch, 345).

But upon this point the complaint is equivocal or at least indistinct. It does not directly state that the land is mortgaged to secure the payment of the complainant's bonds. True, it is averred that the mortgage is upon all the property of the corporation, except subscriptions to its capital stock. What other property, if any, than these subscriptions and this land, the corporation claims is not shown. Now, as to the land, the complaint states specially, that the mortgage is upon the rights of the corporation under the act of Congress and upon 50 per centum of the proceeds of such of the lands thereby granted as may be sold before the bonds become due in 1889. Waiving the question of whether the corporation can mortgage these lands before the performance of the conditions on which the grant was made and before they are selected and separated, by the proper authority from the body of the public lands, this allegation rather indicates an agreement by the corporation in the disposition of the proceeds of this land sold before 1889, to prefer its bond creditors as to 50 per centum thereof, than a mortgage upon the land itself.

But counsel for complainant does not rest his right to relief upon this ground alone. He maintains that the complainant is something different from, and more than, a mere creditor of the O. C. R. R. Co., secured by a lien upon its property. That he is also the owner of its bonds—a species of obligation or security, which in the progress of society and business have acquired a conventional value, as property. That this conventional value depends upon the state of public opinion as to the resources and prospects of the corporation that issued these bonds and thereby created this property and that the issuance of similar bonds in large numbers, in the name of the O. C. R. R. Co., by the defendant corporation, works an injury to the complainant by diminishing the conventional or market value of his property.

This argument is not without force and plausibility. No authority has been cited, however, in support of the conclusion, and I do not deem it necessary to express an opinion at this time upon the question made by it. For, admitting that the complainant is entitled as against the defendants to the relief prayed for, either on the ground of his being the owner of the O. C. R. R. Co.'s bonds or a creditor of such corporation with a lien upon its lands for security, yet I am satisfied that this suit cannot be maintained without the O. C. R. Co, being made a party, plaintiff or defendant. Upon authority and principle, the corporation whose name is alleged to be wrongfully assumed and used, must be made a party to the suit. If such corporation refuses to bring the suit after being requested to do so, the complainant may sue, and alleging the fact in his complaint, make the corporation a party defendant. (3 Page, Ch. 232; 16 How, 331.)

The demurrer ore tenus for want of proper parties is therefore allowed upon payment by the defendants of the costs of the demurrer on the record. (3 Page Ch. 233.) DEADY, J.

Opinion of the San Francisco Commercial Advertiser.

The San Francisco commercial ...ertiser of the Sacramento Union writes as follows regarding the views of the Chicago Committee of Commerce upon the business and prospects of San Francisco:

The whole party ...ed themselves as delighted with California, the climate, scenery, productions and people, which they admit are not excelled in any portion of the Union; but they thought we were behind all the other States in developing our resources. One ...ntleman Chicagoan said: "If Illinois had such a ...te as California, and equal facilities for manufactures and foreign commerce, Chicago would soon be ahead of New York as a center of trade." They thought the railroad and steamboat companies here had stood in their own light by charging exorbitant prices for transportation, ...m these charges crippled production. They said our port charges were outrageous, considering the accommodations furnished.

In reference to immigration they expressed the opinion that parties who had taken up large tracts of land to hold for high prices, in anticipation of a large influx of immigrants to purchase it, would have an elephant on their hands if such lands should be taxed for fifty per cent. of the price the holders asked for them. The party visited nearly all the local manufactories and expressed much surprise at the prices paid for labor, materials and the articles when made, which they said were fully twenty-five per cent., and in some instances, fifty per cent. higher than in Chicago and New York. When informed of the rents paid for stores on Montgomery and Kearney streets, the taxes and other incidental expenses of business, they could not see how all these expenses were paid out of the profits of the trade that appeared to be doing. The price of real estate astonished them.

They thought they could send many classes of goods, paying $100 per ton freight, and then sell them cheaper than we can make them here, and laughed at the idea of San Francisco attempting to compete with Chicago in the markets of Utah, Eastern Nevada and Montana, while money was for business purposes, was scarce at 15 to 24 per cent. per annum, and could be obtained to any extent at New York or Chicago at seven to ten per cent. Many of the Western merchants, they said, are glad to do business on a profit equal to the difference between these rates of interest.

There is no doubt that the visit of these gentlemen will have a beneficial effect on certain branches of business, as soon as the railroad companies shall be made to understand that producers do not like to give two-thirds of the value of their products for the accommodation of ...ding them to market.

Political Bridge Making.

The New York World is jubilant over the nomination of General Rosecrans by the Democracy of Ohio. It says the nomination was judicious and daring, and adds:

Gen. Rosecrans is a bridge on which tens of thousands of Ohio citizens can ...ily pass over into the Democratic party, and the platform just adopted is well calculated to keep the party steady and unanimous in the support of so bold a ticket. Those who feel most hesitation about the ticket, find a compensation in the platform, and vice versa. The platform and ticket, taken together, form a combination which will bring more voters to the poll, on the Democratic side, than any other which was possible under the circumstances. It is a very dexterous instance of adapting the plan of battle to the nature of the ground on which

Before the Gate.

They gave the whole long day to idle laughter,
To fitful song and jest,
To moods of soberness as idle, after,
And silences, as idle too as the rest

But when at last upon their way returning,
Taciturn, late, and loath,
Through the broad meadow in the sunset burning,
They reached the gate, one sweet spell hindered them both.

Her heart was troubled with a divine anguish
Such as but women know
That wait, and lest lovespeak or speak not languish,
And what they would, would rather they would not so;

Till he said,—man-like, nothing comprehending;
Of all the wondrous guile
That women won win themselves with, and bending
Eyes of relentless asking on her the while,—

"Ah, if beyond this gate the path untried
Our steps as far as death,
And I might open it!—" His voice affrighted
At its own daring, faltered under his breath.

Then she—whom his faith and fear enchanted
Far beyond words to tell,
Feeling her woman's finest wit had wanted
The heart he had that knew to blunder so well—

Shyly drew near, a little step, and mocking,
"Shall we not be too late
For tea?" she said, "I'm quite worn out with walking;
Yes, thanks, your arm. And will you—open the gate"

A Divided Democracy.

The New York Herald, a strong conservative sheet, at the present writing, thus remorselessly reads the California Democrats out of the party:

The Democrats of California, at their late State Convention, resolved to rely upon "the white people of the country to administer and control their Government, without the aid of either negroes or Chinese," and that the subjection to the negroes in our Southern States of the whites, and the disfranchisement of the whites "and the denial to them of all those sacred rights guaranteed to every freeman is an outrage," etc., and that "the labor of our white people should not be brought into competition with the labor of a class of inferior people, whose living costs comparatively nothing." This is a hundred years behind the age. We can tell these California Democrats that negro suffrage is a fixed fact, and that the Southern Democrats, under a new organization, are using it with success, and that it is sheer nonsense to fight them in California with Democratic resolutions. Have the California Democrats heard of the Pacific Railroad and who built it? Looking at the facts around us we must pronounce this California platform the stupidest thing out since the secession ordinance of South Carolina.

It is difficult to see what the Democratic party will do in California for platform timber, if the fourth its only hope—is going to destroy the most popular plank in the structure. The facts, however, is now to regarding the inordinate flooding of Chinese into this country, between Republicans and Democrats on this coast, The only difference between the parties is this: one party is now, and has been making a lobby of Asiatic influence in the voters, whilst the other eschews demagogism on the subject. The Democracy went into power in California two years since on this same Chinese issue, and they failed—utterly and contemptibly failed—to redeem a single pledge they had made to the laboring classes before the election. If the Democrats hope to make the Asiatic a national question, they may as well abandon that hope right now; for the great bulk of their party in the South are practically arranging to flood their plantations with coolies. From present appearances the Democrats in 1872 will have two platforms—those of the South and North—one for [illegible] and one of the Pacific [illegible] it—Island Empire.

[illegible] Democrats [illegible] Pacific States [illegible] Democracy in the first column [illegible] any of the other [illegible] in California as we have it is not a political [illegible] The Legislature may [illegible] while men shall be equal in [illegible] and privileges to their [illegible] superiors, the blacks but the people [illegible] Legislature, if the work shall be left to do, will do it. We have reason to know that a [illegible] on in favor of forcing the the negro to [illegible] when his testimony is wanted, [illegible] in Kentucky, and we are sure that even in the absence of any other influences than those which are now at work, the intelligence, that is, of good sense and calm reflection, the rule of requiring negro testimony will be established, after a little while, by the courts in Kentucky; but other influences and considerations, will soon be at work. There is a certainty that the elections of the coming fall will be the last that will take place in Kentucky with negro suffrage excluded. This is a fact that we had better look squarely in the face, much as we may loathe its visage. Everybody knows that, immediately after the [illegible] ratification of the fifteenth amendment will be declared to have been ratified by the requisite number of States and to be a part of the Constitution, and then all the negroes of this State will be voters, and nothing can exclude them from the polls except [illegible] war [illegible] the United States; and that, when it would be right-eous or [illegible] righteous, will not be attempted. And we may ask how long [illegible] ability to [illegible] in this only State where it exists will [illegible] when [illegible] nothing shall be in full blast [illegible] and everywhere? Let the bitterest opponent of negro testimony answer. The negro voters will hold the balance of power in all our cities and towns, and in very many of our counties, and [illegible] few aspiring politicians, very few ambitious candidates for the Legislature, will venture to put their prospects in peril by saying that the negro should be excluded from the courts as a witness, because too mendacious and degraded to be believed on oath. Not only will there then be no opposition to negro testimony, but many of the most [illegible] of the present writers and talkers against it will claim to have been always in favor of it, its especial advocates, and very probably they will denounce those who are now for it as having been against it.

The Death of a Remarkable Inventor.

Mr. Dixon, who died in Jersey City recently aged 71, was a most remarkable, not to say extraordinary man. He made a machine to cut files before he attained his majority, learned the printer's trade, afterward that of wood engraving, then lithography, and afterward studied medicine, and in that connection became interested in chemistry, becoming finally one of the most accomplished and competent chemists in the country. He was a thorough optician, and had no equal in his knowledge of photography. He took up the experiments of Daguerre in 1836, and was probably the first person to take a portrait by the camera. He showed Professor Morse how to take portraits by means of a reflector, so that the subjects would not appear reversed. Morse tried to get the plan patented in Europe. Mr. Dixon built the first locomotive, with wooden wheels, but with the same double crank now used. He originated the process of photo-lithography, and published it years before it was believed to be useful. By his process of transferring, the old bank-notes were easily counterfeited, and it was to guard against the abuse of his own process that he brought out the system of printing in colors on the bills, and had the method patented, but never received any benefit from the patent, all the banks using it without pay. He perfected the system of making collodion for the photographers, and assisted Mr. Harrison in getting a true system for grinding the lenses for camera tubes. He originated the anti-friction metal, that has been for a great many years known as "Babbitt metal," and he is the father of the steel-melting business in this country.—Newark Courier.

Navigating the Air.

[From the Alta California.]

The "Avitor" is now in the Exposition Building, The British Association for encouraging air ships is composed of gentlemen distiguished for science, wealth and public spirit. The problem of practically traversing the air and with useful results has been well considered in all its bearings; and certainly their judgement is encouraging to inventors What they ask of inventors, to confirm their faith and to command their liberal support, is that they produce a flying machine which will make two hundred yards of even progress through the air, at an elevation of but four feet above the ground. They say that if two hundred yards be accomplished, two thousand or twenty thousand, and so on, can be done by continuing the same means of propulsion. The problem they seek will be solved, the only formidable obstacle will be surmountable The rest may be safely left to mechanical ingenuity.

The association has offered a prize of £2,000 (we believe) for the best machine that accomplishes what the "Avitor" did yesterday. It sailed around the spacious enclosure, making repeated circuits with easy grace, and no one can doubt that, if the sweep had been one mile or many miles in extent, it would have accomplished it with equal facility.

The "Avitor" is an air-tight, porpoise-shaped cylinder, of textile material and good proportion, inflated with hydrogen gas. It has side propellers, operated by a light naptha engine, set in an exterior recess amidships, and it has a steering tail. This sufficiently describes it, for nobody will miss the occasion to examine personally so very interesting a curiosity.

Should the "Avitor" prove to be but the first practical indicator of the way to success, who is there that will not hereafter regret missing the opportunity to witness its first performance? The management of such a machine is, of course, comparatively easy in still air. In facing open-air currents, new conditions will demand contrivance. But having accomplished so much, there is encouragement—a step in advance of all former achievements to stimulate further experiment.

General Rosecrans.

[From the Cincinnati Gazette.]

The Enquirer taunts us that General Rosecrans was a pet General of the Gazette during the war. Was it on that account that he was nominated as the Democratic candidate? He certainly was not the Enquirer's pet General, but quite the reverse. The Gazette did not deal much in pet military officers; its office was chiefly critical. But our support of Rosecrans was for his earnestness and ability in fighting the Enquirer's friends, both in front and rear. That is no reason why we should support him if he goes over to those who then fought him and hated him. And if we were to take General Rosecrans now, we could not consent to take the following that has hitched to him. A Democratic Legislature, after our recent experience, would be too high a price to pay for Rosecrans for Governor. We hope the Enquirer will support him with all its might. It is humble pie; but we are very well suited with a candidate.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mr A. D. Miller, an old citizen of this city, died very suddenly, at his home in North Portland, about a quarter past seven o'clock last evening. There were some circumstances connected with his death which excited much speculation. About 4 o'clock, or perhaps a little later, there was a rencounter between Col. Gibson, the Paymaster of this Department, and Mr Miller, in which the latter received one or more blows given with the hand of Col. Gibson. Mr Miller, went home between five and seven, and while in the stable, shortly afterwards attending to his horse, he fell forward upon his face and died almost instantly. In the excitement which followed, among the neighbors and throughout the city, the sudden death and the affair mentioned above were so connected as to lead to the arrest of Col. Gibson on the charge of homicide, but he was shortly after released on bail for his appearance at 2 o'clock this afternoon before Justice Bull. Justice J. O. Waterman, of North Portland precinct, acting as Coroner, summoned a jury at Mr. Miller's house for the purpose of holding an inquest on the body, but no evidence was taken that evening, the inquest being adjourned till 9 o'clock this morning. We have refrained from stating the particulars, either of the death or of the unfortunate difficulty between Col. Gibson and the deceased, for the reason that there will be official legal examinations, and we prefer to wait and get the facts as they may then appear before the city, last evening, was rife with conflicting versions of the whole matter, which we could not feel justified, under the circumstances, in giving to the public. Mr Miller was an old resident of Portland, and perhaps more widely known than almost any other man in humble life. He was a drayman by occupation, but was at one time, for many years, a city marshal, under Wells, Fargo & Co. He leaves a wife and seven children, in somewhat straitened circumstances, but who will have the earnest sympathy of the entire community in their sudden and terrible bereavement.

THE [illegible] A Mistake.—Messrs. R. J. Ladd and Joseph Knott sailed for home Sunday evening from the Bohemia mining district, [illegible] a couple weeks since to examine the quartz ledges in that district, with a view of investing should they find the prospects encouraging. They brought with them specimens from the Excelsior, the principal ledge, and several others which are thought to be productive of gold and silver. The tests thus far made of the Excelsior rock show a very fair prospect, and tests of nearly all the others are pronounced encouraging. Messrs. Ladd and Knott propose to have assays made of all the specimens. They have so much confidence in the paying qualities of the ledges, that they will immediately set about procuring a quartz mill, and intend to take it into the mines and put it to work during the present season. Most of the miners who have been in the Bohemia district this summer, are now out attending to their harvests, only about fifteen or twenty men remaining. These mines were formerly reached by trail from Oakland, but a much shorter trail is now traveled by persons going in from the Wallamet valley. It starts off from the stage road at Hamilton, sixteen miles beyond Eugene, and [illegible] the mines in forty miles travel. It is not difficult to reach the mines from Hamilton or even Eugene in a single day, on horseback.

FROM ASTORIA.—By the arrival of the Geo. S. Wright we learn that on Sunday the bark North Star went to sea. The bark Whistler raised anchor for the same purpose, but before getting under way, drifted upon the ground at ebb tide, at Shark's point, and was compelled to await flood tide to get off. It was expected she would be out yesterday. She received no damage by the accident of grounding. The schooner J. C. Champion sailed on Sunday for Tillamook.

Mr. Montgomery, who contracted the small pox on board the Onward, is rapidly convalescing. Capt Johnson, who had a slight attack of variloid, has entirely recovered. Such precautions were observed as to render it probable that the disease will spread, and the excitement at first prevailing has altogether subsided.

The steamer Grant, on her way down last week towed a raft of piles from Cairo wood yard, for use at the new saw mill in course of building, by Messrs. Knapp & Co., at Centralia.

COUNTY COURT—MARQUAM, JUDGE.—Proceedings of Monday—August term:

R. G. Sneath vs. A. L. Marshall; motion for confirmation of sale of lots; sale confirmed.

In the matter of the guardianship of Justin Dement, a person, A Vallard, guardian; the guardian having removed from the State, tendered his resignation and asked the appointment of B. Trainor as guardian of said Dement; Vallard's resignation accepted, and B. Trainor appointed and required to give surety in the sum of $2,000.

In the matter of guardianship of Jos. Delashneider, [illegible], A. B. Richardson, guardian; petition for license to sell real estate for payment of debts, license granted.

In the matter of D. H. Lownsdale, deceased, J. P. O. Lownsdale, administrator; final settlement; report of referee filed and approved; settlement made and administrator discharged.

CIRCUIT COURT—UPTON, JUDGE.—Proceedings of yesterday:

Joseph Whaling vs. Jos. S. Noland—demurrer to complaint sustained.

R. C. Kavanagh vs. Hiram Smith, et al—motion to strike out parts of answer and demurrer to other parts sustained.

[illegible] B. Bybee vs. John Lillies, et al—motion to strike out part of replication sustained.

Portland Macadamized Road Company vs. City of Portland—motion to strike out part of answer overruled.

C. W. Pope vs. J. M. Gilman—dismissed at cost of plaintiff.

Martin Maley vs Jacobs—judgment on verdict of jury for plaintiff, for $36 13.

Richard Jacobs vs. John P. Ladd—judgement for plaintiff, for $385 42.

THE POOR TAX.—Last accounts from China state, says the Mining and Scientific Press, that a secret society has been organized there, having for its object the expulsion of foreigners from the Celestial Empire. The opposition has not yet progressed so far as to assault foreigners in the cities; but merely contents itself with issuing proclamations—probably threatening violence; while we are not advised as to the character of such proclamations. The Chinese are evidently fearful, if foreigners are allowed to come at will, that junks will have to make way for steamers, [illegible] to railroads, and man power for steam power, generally, etc. Well, those pagans, after all, are not so very much behind the "most enlightened portion [illegible] of the earth." It is hardly necessary to add to the above extract, Nasby's postscript: "N. B. This is sarkasm." The reader will see it.

MISPLACED MOURNFUL MIXED.—In the Commercial of last evening, we find the following mixture of metaphors: "The OREGONIAN should not be so solicitous for the safety and welfare of our [illegible] temporary, providing, if he has the most confidence in his own ability, in the strength and texture of his wing, and the consummate skill requisite to 'paddle his own canoe.'" This is beaten, however, just one point, by the following extract from the [illegible], of a one-horse pettifogger, member of the Wisconsin Legislature, from one of the outside counties: "Mr. [illegible]—I smell a rat! Methinks I see it brewing in the air! But mark me, I shall nip it in the bud!"

SHIP CARPENTERS' MOVEMENT.—On Saturday the Ship Carpenters of this city held a meeting to discuss matters pertaining to the inauguration of ship building at this city or on the Columbia river. Some encouragement having been given by merchants of this city, a committee consisting of Messrs. Sol. Benard and T. J. Bolger, was appointed to confer with men of capital, with a view of securing the [illegible] of lumber and money to purchase rigging and material. The ship carpenters are willing to put their labor against the money necessary to build one or more vessels suitable to the coasting trade.

MURDER IN YAMHILL COUNTY.—We learn that on Sunday a man named Claiborne Morris was shot and killed at Chehalem valley, Yamhill county, as he was riding on horseback along the road. The shot came from the bushes at some distance from the road, and no one knows who fired it. The wounded man lived 'till 11 o'clock in the evening when he died. The ball entered at the lower part of the stomach and came out at the back. Morris is the same man who shot Cull Hees some four or five weeks since.

REAL ESTATE AT SEATTLE.—We met with a gentleman, yesterday, from Salem, who is on his way to Seattle to look after some lots there, of which he is the owner. They cost him $21 apiece, a year or two ago, and now he is offered $100 apiece. This rise is attributable mostly to the "terminal advantages" which Seattle is supposed to have.

PORTLAND LIBRARY.—The following new books have just been received at the Portland Library: Ethelyn's Mistake, by Holmes; Don Quixote, by Dore; History of European Morals, from Augustus to Charlemagne, by Secky; The Mississippi Valley, by Foster; The Adventures of Philip, by Thackeray; Rose Mather, by Holmes.

EXCHANGE.—Rev. Dr. Sommerville, who preached on Sunday at the Presbyterian Church, is to remain and officiate at the Presbyterian church for a few weeks in pursuance of an exchange arrangement with Rev. Mr. Lindsay. Dr. Sommerville is the pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Victoria.

MONEY ARRIVED.—Postmaster Wakefield, who is agent for the disbursement of the money to be expended in erecting the United States buildings in this city, received last evening from Washington $11,600 in currency to be applied to this object. Other remittances will come as fast as ordered.

NUMBER OF LETTERS.—The three cent postage stamps cancelled in the postoffice, at this city foots up, we learn, from twenty to twenty-five dollars per day. The number of letters sent from Portland each day, bearing three cent stamps, is therefore from six to eight hundred.

STEAMER TO OREGON CITY.—Hereafter, until further notice, the Oregon City steamer will leave this city at 5 o'clock A. M. This is one hour earlier than the usual time a change rendered necessary by the difficulties of navigation above the falls.

JUDGE J. K. KENNEDY, of Washington Territory, appointed to succeed Judge Wyche, arrived yesterday by the Geo. S. Wright, en route to Walla Walla. He will go forward to-day as far as the Cascades where he intends to tarry a day or two.

REMEMBER the Immigration Meeting at the Council Chamber this evening. The Committee will submit a report. There should be a full attendance as the matter in hand is one of primary importance to the city and State.

PORTLAND HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION.—A business meeting of this company was called for last evening, at the Council Chamber, but no quorum appearing, an adjournment to next Monday evening took place.

REMOVAL.—We call attention to B L. Stone's advertisement of "Removal." He may now be found at 107 Front street, fitted up handsomely, and with a large, fine stock of goods. Call and see him.

The Pacific Mail steamer Colorado sailed this afternoon for San Francisco. The Telfair is also advertised to sail to day, for Puget Sound and Victoria. The Wright for the same destination will sail on Wednesday.

THE OREGON CITY ENTERPRISE.—We understand that Mr D M M Kinney is to edit the Enterprise, under the new regime, and that the politics of the paper will be Democratic.

MEETING OF RELIEF SOCIETY.—The ladies of the Relief Society will meet in the basement of the Presbyterian Church to-day (Tuesday) at half past two o'clock.

INSURED.—Mr Miller whose sudden death we have noticed elsewhere, had a life insurance policy in the New England company for $2,000.

LECTURES AT OREGON CITY.—We hear that Rev Benj Todd will lecture during the present week at Oregon City on spiritualism.

FATHER.—We are indebted to Mr Neustadt, Purser of the steamer Geo. S. Wright, for files of late Victoria papers.

MEETING OF THE IMMIGRATION COMMITTEE.—There will be a meeting of the citizens of Portland on Tuesday evening, August 3d, at the Council Chamber for the purpose of receiving and taking action on the report of the Committee on Organization.

By order of the President,

C P FERRY, Sec'y

A DAY OR TWO since we spoke of the number of Eastern made carriages which are constantly coming to this town for our pleasure loving citizens. But having seen some of W. K COOPER & Co's work we wonder that people do not patronize home manufactures. He has just turned out for Pat Smith the neatest pony carriage or English phaeton that could be made anywhere. The body is basket shape, on low wheels, and is got up in as good style and at as low a price as any of the imported carriages. In fact Cooper need not feel ashamed to say it is his work.

EVERY DAY, at No. 107 Front street, one door above McCormick's, you can see KANE'S CONDENSED SOAP wash without rubbing.

G F TRAIN preaches but does not always practice—he patronized the Oregon Dispensary and used our medicines to cure his [illegible] is what caught those large Salmon. Since his lectures on Doctors and Drug Stores, we have had an unprecedented run for our numerous remedies, toilet articles, etc., etc. It has been said that Mr. Train was induced by us to deliver that lecture, but we assure our numerous patrons that we do not use such means to obtain patronage. We do the largest trade because our Druggists are the most competent and our medicines and goods are fresh, pure and cheap.

WE TAKE PLEASURE IN CALLING the attention of dealers to a [illegible] Patented Triple Silver Coating on Electro Plated Spoons and Forks, by which those parts now exposed to wear receive [illegible]

EXTRA COAT OF SILVER!

[illegible] THREE TIMES THE USUAL THICKNESS

[illegible] on the back of the handle, bowl of the spoon and prongs of forks, back of the handle and breast and points of tines of forks, as illustrated in cuts.

This mode of Electro Plating greatly surpasses the old way of plating. The great advantage will be readily seen, as spoons and forks always wear through on these exposed points, while the plate is yet good on other parts of the article. This new process will add THREE TIMES TO THE DURABILITY of goods so plated.

Knives, forks and spoons stamped "1847 ROGERS BROTHERS AXIS," are Electro Plated by the new Patented Process.

We have now been before the public since 1852, manufacturing ELECTRO-PLATED GOODS, which have stood the most severe tests of wear in hotels, steamers and private families, and have given universal satisfaction, supplying, as it does, all of the advantages of silver in durability and beauty. We wish to call particular attention to the hardness and firmness of our White Metal, which exceeds anything of the kind made in this country. All goods plated on this metal bear our trade mark, and the plating is warranted THREE TIMES THE USUAL THICKNESS.

OLYMPIA, W. T., March 27, 1869.

C. A. WHITE, Esq.—Dear Sir: Having examined your original map, embracing that portion of Washington Territory west of the Cascade Range, I desire to add my testimony to its value. Having been engaged for a number of years in the surveys from Cape Flattery to the Head of Puget Sound, I have examined this portion of your map more critically than others, and I take pleasure in vouching for its general correctness.

This map will fill a want that has long been felt, not only among the residents of this Territory, but others, who are desirous of obtaining information of this portion of the "Far West," and I trust that we shall soon see it in a form suitable for general distribution.

JAS. S. LAWSON,
Asst U. S C S.

We endorse the annexed opinion of Jas. S Lawson, Esq., and will add that Mr Chas. A. White is a practical surveyor, and has had access to the township maps in the two Land Offices in this Territory, as also the Coast Survey charts, and we can vouch for his map of Washington Territory, west of the Cascade Range of Mountains, as being correct, and the only good map of the same territory that has been made.

he Financial System of the Pacific States

That there is a growing disposition in California to adopt the national circulating medium in lieu of the metallic currency to which he people of the Pacific slope have so far teadily adhered, cannot be doubted by any ne who watches the discussions of the subject by the press of that State. Oregon tands in such a relation to California that he adoption of the national currency by that State would necessitate the same course here; herefore we cannot but be interested in the liscussion which is going on in California upon so important a matter. Not long ago he Sacramento Union and the San Francisco Times declared that either gold or greenbacks 'must leave the field," and that, "unless gold should receive a proper adjutant (a demand note currency) it would be the skedaddler." It is urged by these journals that Government should gradually withdraw its greenbacks and issue demand notes upon its own gold, to be used as a circulating medium, which would be as good as a specie-paying currency. But the Bulletin has raised objections to this scheme, showing that the loss arising from the conversion of greenbacks into this demand note currency would be the same as the loss arising from their conversion into gold. We judge there is little probability that any plan like this will be adopted. The Stockton Independent discusses the subject of gold or greenbacks in a very suggestive article, which we quote entire:

The soundness of the financial policy of California is now to be tested under very different circumstances than ever before. Our State has for twenty years clung to an exclusive specie currency, and during that time having been a large producer of the precious metals, and having occupied an isolated position, she as a State has been comparatively prosperous. It is very questionable, however, whether her development has been rapid as her natural resources would seem to have warranted. Billions of dollars of the precious metals have been taken from her mines and added to the world's wealth, yet California has received but little more benefit therefrom than she would have done had the same precious metals been taken in Peru or Africa. Aside from the one fact that the discovery of gold was the first means of bringing an emigration to California that eventually discovered and commenced the development of the permanent resources of the State, it may be questionable whether she has been profited by her many of the precious metals. It is certain that had not other fields of industry been opened as the mines became exhausted, the ills of the State would at the present time have been most deplorable. The gold producing interest has now become one of minor importance in the value of the gold product being much less than the value of the wheat crop, and it soon will become less than our product of wool and wine. At the same time by the completion of the Pacific railroad, California no longer occupies her former isolated position, but is brought into close communication with the great commercial centers of the nation. It now remains to be seen whether she can continue her specie currency policy and make for herself greater advantages than could be secured by the adoption of the views of the nation and placing herself on a footing of equality with the other States of the Union. At this time it is highly necessary that this point should be fully investigated, that such evil may be taken as will be for the future welfare of our State. There is a universal complaint of the scarcity of money. To discover the cause of this remedy and to suggest a remedy, is an object worthy the attention of our best men. While our banks cease to call in their loans and refuse discount, even upon the best of paper, and the financial standing of our business men is impaired. If this results from exportation of gold, it can be but temporary, for the money used will eventually come back to the banks, but if the stringency results from an actual scarcity of the circulating medium, and we continue to export more of the precious metals (our currency) than we produce or receive, business will not revive and a financial crash is imminent, unless the export of the precious metals is stopped, or another circulating medium adopted in their place. It is doubtful whether any classes in California, with exception of the importers and bankers, have thus far been benefited by the State's rejection of the National currency, and these classes have derived their profits at the expense of the people at large. It is a question for the people to decide whether it will not be for the interest of the State to now adopt the National currency and assist in the establishment of National banks rather than long to cling to an exclusive specie currency and be subject to the control of a class of speculators who will continue to reap good profits at the expense of the rest.

An Overland Atlantic Cable.

The telegraph cables now connecting the two hemispheres across the Atlantic ocean are wholly in foreign hands, all their terminations being on foreign territory. The line connecting the United States with the French cable is only a side or branch line from which France may cut us off whenever she desires. The New York Times says truly that "we ought to have a cable, one end of which should be upon our own territory, and the other end upon the territory of some European Power with which we are never likely to have collision or difficulty—say, for example Germany."

Eastern journals inform us that an American Atlantic cable is already projected. An American Cable Company is now in existence, composed of a number of the wealthy and skilled financiers of the country, who have for some time been engaged in working up a programme for a cable, to proceed direct from New York City to Europe. For prudential reasons the European terminus is withheld for the present; but arrangements have been made with responsible parties in relation to the finances of the enterprise, and it is expected that the project will be advanced toward completion during the present year.

This line, as we learn from the paper above quoted, will be worked with what are known in telegraphic circles as "sounder instruments"—that is the alphabet is indicated by the galvanometer reflector system, as now used on cables, and can be operated three or four times as rapidly as can possibly be done by the present system. Two sets of these instruments were manufactured for this Company some time since, and have been thoroughly tested both in Europe and America—in Europe, through a circuit of 3,000 miles of insulated wire, and with the most perfect success. They are constructed upon entirely new principles, and are so far wholly unknown to the public.

It is expected, indeed it is intended, that by constructing a direct line from New York City, and working it upon these improved plans, the Company will be enabled to do business a rates scarcely, if at all, in advance of present rates on American land lines.

In General.

A writer in the Polk County Times demands to know of Beriah Brown, in direct terms whether he, the said Beriah, is in favor of paying the national debt, and secondly, whether he is in favor of taxing United States bonds,—the inference being that if he is in favor of the first and not in favor of the last, he, the said Beriah, is no Democrat.

We call special attention to the article from the Overland Monthly, entitled, "Manifest Destiny in the West" published in the OREGONIAN. It contains much that relates to the past and to the future of Oregon and evinces thoughtful industry on the part of the author. It is from a pen which has furnished many excellent contributions to the literature of the Pacific slope.

As some of our Democratic brethren are still insisting on paying the national debt in greenbacks, it is pertinent to inquire whether they would pay in this manner that portion of the debt which was created under President Buchanan, before greenbacks were ever thought of? And as they still insist that National bonds must be taxed, will they tell us why they didn't tax them prior to 1860, when the debt amounted to nearly $130,000,000, and they had full control of every department of the Government?

The Eugene Guard makes this rational inquiry: "Why will leading politicians of our party, and prominent Democratic papers in this State, and all over the Northern States, flourish, as with a trumpet, from the stump and through their columns, that this Democratic candidate and that Democratic leader, was such a war man, and gave such a hearty support to the prosecution of the war? Democrats, this is all wrong." Certainly it is; and we are glad to find that the Guard has the courage to protest against such dishonesty. It is protesting in the name of two-thirds of its party, who were genuine secession Democrats and have nothing to take back. They know that this thing of running as Democratic candidates men who gave a hearty support to the war is a sham and a falsification of Democratic principles.

That Seattle is a point which has as many advantages as any other of the places which are candidates for the Puget Sound "terminus" of the Norther Pacific railroad, is a fact too apparent to be doubted. People removing to the Sound country certainly think so, for we know of no point there which is improving so rapidly. Its water front is excellent, and back of it lies Lake Washington, a magnificent body of fresh water, twenty miles in length, of almost unsounded depth and considerably higher than the tide level of the Sound. A small expenditure of money will open a ship channel from the Sound into the Lake, which therefore may become a very important station for repairing vessels and for other naval purposes. King county has already offered to cut the canal if the Government will cede the lands around the Lake which will thereby be drained. Some desirable property in Seattle is now offered for sale by Mr. A. Hurst, who has been in this city for several days. He has shown us some maps, in an examination of which we have been much interested. Back of the town lies the most extensive agricultural region in the Sound country, which is fast settling up with a busy population.

A Victoria paper states that "the trial of Watts for the murder of Hibbard, on San Juan Island, will take place in a few days before a Military Commission of United States Army officers. The prisoner remains in close confinement." This statement suggests a comparison between this case and that of Yerger, who has been tried for murder by a Military Commission in Mississippi. Application has been made to the United States Supreme Court for a writ to take the prisoner from the custody of the military; and the application is to be heard and decided in October. The decision, it is expected, will affirm or deny the constitutionality of this particular feature of the reconstruction law. In the meantime the President will not permit the finding of the Military Commission to be enforced. Now if so much tenderness is manifested in regard to military trials in the South why shouldn't an equal tenderness be exhibited in this San Juan Island case? In fact there is a stronger reason against allowing this San Juan case to proceed than can be urged against any case of a similar kind in an unreconstructed State. There is a law for such proceedings in the South, but there is no law for anything of the kind on San Juan Island. The joint military occupation of that Island by our country and Great Britain has not, on our part, the sanction of law. It was an arrangement made by President Buchanan without authority of law, and has never been sanctioned by Congress. Now we want to ask our Democratic friends who have been making so much noise about military trials in the South what they have to say about this military trial on San Juan Island, which is to take place under an order of things instituted by our last Democratic President? To put a question in their own language, we would like to know if human life is to be thus trifled with by "military satraps?"

GENERAL NEWS ITEMS.

A recent number of the Philadelphia Daily Ledger contained over 1,500 separate and distinct advertisements.

The Government will commence this month the erection of a splendid new postoffice building in New York City.

The British Columbia authorities hung two Indians last week at Barclay Sound in the presence of about 60 of their tribe. One of the Victoria papers remarks that "the Indians seemed very much impressed with the ceremony." No doubt of it.

Isham G. Harris, the great Tennessee Democrat, was the man who presided over the "Chinese Labor Convention," to provide for the immigration of the Mongolian. What a great difference appears in Democratic principles in different States of the Union?

There is a project on foot to bore two tunnels from Dover to Calais, for railway purposes. It is believed that the English and French Governments will jointly guarantee five per cent. interest on £10,000,000 to insure the success of the project. The proposed tunnels will be over thirty miles in length, and if completed will be the greatest bores in the world.

A Bombay paper says that the cultivation of the poppy is at once to be largely increased in the Bengal Presidency, and the necessary orders have been issued in time for the cultivation of next year. This action is in consequence of the proclamation of the Emperor of China, prohibitory of opium cultivation in any part of the Imperial dominions. The English are determined to supply the Chinese with an abundance of this ruinous narcotic.

The present trouble in relation to the Chinese question seems to be to keep the Democracy from importing coolies contrary to law. A California paper puts it in this way: The Democratic coolie importation scheme in the Southern States is being looked after by our Republican Administration. The Secretary of the Treasury has instructed the Collector of New Orleans to keep a sharp lookout to prevent vessels with Chinese from entering that port with coolies.

General Hancock sensibly declined to run as the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania some time before the Convention met. He said: "Were I in civil life, no distinction would be more agreeable to me than to be governor of Pennsylvania. I have, however, followed the profession of arms since boyhood, and now that I have acquired considerable rank, do not wish to abandon it to enter upon a life for which I am much less prepared by experience or education."

The leading business firms of Valparaiso, Montevideo, Rio Janeiro and Buenos Ayres, have set on foot a movement looking to the organization of a company for the purpose of towing vessels through the Straits of Magellan. A bill will be introduced into the Chilean Congress to incorporate such a company. It is estimated that 5,000 vessels double Cape Horn, annually. A large proportion of these would go through the Straits if there were towing facilities. The delays and disasters off Cape Horn involve immense losses.

Washington News.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—The President inquired what time the Conservative Republicans would nominate their candidates in Mississippi, and when he was informed that it would probably be about the first of September, he replied that he would see what kind of a ticket they put in the field. His action will be influenced more or less by subsequent events, and the course of affairs in the South. He added that he desired the payment of public debt to be incurred and the integrity and honor of the nation to be rendered inviolate. When this is accomplished he will be satisfied.

Several prominent members of Congress recently in Washington, have expressed themselves in favor of collecting the income tax on Government bonds held in Europe, to be deducted on presentation of coupons at the Treasury Department. A bill is already prepared for this purpose and will be introduced immediately after the meeting of the next session.

A special says there is semi-official authority for stating that the rumored removal of Gen Canby to Mississippi, and his supercedence by Gen McDowell, is untrue. Jenkins, Chairman of the Central Committee of the Wells' wing, urging that both wings reunite. Gilmer says that he cannot admit that the party is divided. On the contrary, he claims that the Grant Walker party is the true national Republican party of Virginia, representing the policy of the President and Congress. As such, there is no division to heal; and to the late Wells' party, he has only to say we shall gladly welcome them to our ranks, for we are unwilling to deprive any class of citizens of the innumerable blessings that must flow to Virginia from the unequivocal enforcement of these national principles, of which President Grant and Congress are the head and front.
